Judge Orders Wallace Into Court For Showdown

Governor To Appear On June 3

Injunction Sought
To Prevent Action
Against Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge Friday ordered defiant Gov. George Wallace into court next month for a legal showdown on the state sovereignty issue raised by the governor in his pledge to keep two Negroes out of a state university.

Asserting federal sovereignty, the Justice Department moved for an injunction against interference by Wallace with the enrollment of Negro students at the University of Alabama.

A governor "has no authority by 'interposition' or otherwise to obstruct or prevent the execution of the lawful orders of a court of the United States," the Justice Department said.

Under a court order, Miss Vivian J. Malone, 20, of Mobile is to become the second Negro ever admitted to the main campus at Tuscaloosa, and David M. McGlathery, 27, will attempt to enroll at the center in Huntsville, his hometown.

"This action is brought by the United States in its sovereign capacity to safeguard the due administration of justice in its courts and the integrity of its judicial process," the federal complaint said.

The Justice Department quoted Wallace's pledge of last Tuesday to "bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll in the University of Alabama."

"I embody the sovereignty of this state," he said.

Wallace, who has repeatedly denounced federal courts, filed suit last Saturday in U.S. Supreme Court for an injunction against use of federal troops in Alabama racial troubles. President Kennedy has stationed about 3,000 soldiers at two Alabama bases on a standby basis.

The youthful governor, often called "the fighting little judge," first defied a federal court in 1958 when he was ordered to turn over voter registration records to the civil rights commission.

Then a state circuit judge, Wallace refused to comply with an order from U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. at Montgomery.

However, in a hearing before Johnson, Wallace was cleared of a contempt citation because the judge said Wallace had complied with the court order "through devious means."

African States May Organize

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) — A special committee of African foreign ministers agreed Friday on a charter for an organization of African states aimed at uniting the entire continent into a powerful political and economic force.

The charter must be approved by the heads of state of the 29 African nations attending a summit conference here. A series of speeches today showed they were agreed on the principle of unity but far apart on how to achieve it.

President Talks Strategy As N.Y. Stay Ends

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy wound up a two-day visit here Friday with a political huddle on strategy for a Democratic victory next year in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's home state.

One of the chief tasks facing the Democrats is selection of a candidate to oppose Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, Rochester Republican, a frequent critic of Kennedy's Cuban policy.

Kennedy conferred in his Hotel Carlyle suite with Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon before flying back to Washington.

"We talked about politics in general," said McKeon. He added that the senatorship was among the topics discussed. He declined to go into details of the discussion, which served to set the ball rolling for the 1964 campaign.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, Democratic Senate Campaign Committee chairman, commented that he expected meetings would be held shortly between upstate and New York City Democrats on senatorial possibilities.

Magnuson, who accompanied the President here, said he presumed there would be liaison between the state party leaders and Washington.

Presbyterians Censure Pastor

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—The Presbyterian minister who married Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to the former Margaretta Fitter Murphy was formally censured today by a board of the United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Marshall L. Smith was accused of failing to obtain the required permission of his presbytery to marry a person divorced less than a year. Rockefeller's bride received her decree on April 1.

The censure was the lightest of all five possible penalties that could have been meted out. The most severe was expulsion.

The Rev. Mr. Smith married the couple on May 4 at the Pocantico Hills, N.Y., estate of Rockefeller's brother, Laurence.

The couple returned Thursday from a two-week honeymoon to Venezuela and the Caribbean.

Four Florida Students Set Odd College Record

By BERNARD J. ROSWIG
United Press International
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Adrian Catarzi and his three daredevil companions are acquiring some unique college-day memories.

The four are headliners in Florida State University's flying circus, a traveling band of performers skilled in tight rope walking, balancing and juggling.

Catarzi, a 19-year-old Sarasota, Fla., youth, performs with Judy Allen, 21, Delray Beach, Fla.; Sudi Ford, 19, Winter Haven, Fla.; and Don Johnston, 19, Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Catarzi, although coach Ed Gilbert and Catarzi himself deny it, is the star of the show. Still a year away from graduation, he has already received offers to perform with Ringling Brothers and the Clyde Beatty circuses.

Climbers Call Helicopter To Everest

Several Suffer
From Frostbite

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — The American Everest expedition Friday called for a helicopter to fly two of its successful mountain climbers to Katmandu for treatment of frostbitten feet.

Expedition leader Norman G. Dyrenfurth radioed that several members had suffered frostbite but that Dr. William Unsold, 36, of Corvallis, Ore., and Barry C. Bishop, 30, of Washington, D.C., needed medical treatment.

He described their case as a "medical emergency" but told Unsold's anxious wife Jolene that "as far as we know their fingers are all right."

Expedition doctor Gilbert Roberts said later by radio that all of their toes were affected.

The two men were among four Americans who climbed 29,028-foot Mt. Everest Wednesday in a twin assault.

Unsold and Dr. Thomas F. Hornbein, 32, of San Diego, Calif., climbed the never-before-scaled west ridge. Bishop and Luther G. Jerstad, 26, of Eugene, Ore., climbed via the south col, the traditional route.

Dyrenfurth said several other climbers had "a little bit of frostbite as Jim Whittaker had," but nothing to prevent them walking out.

The mountain climbers were reported en route to the base camp at 17,800 feet which is too high for a helicopter to use. Dyrenfurth asked the helicopter to meet them at 14,000-foot Pheriche village when they reach there Sunday.

Penn State Coal Ideas Are Ignored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Officials from Pennsylvania State University protested to the Office of Coal Research Friday that they have come up with at least 19 good ideas to convert coal to various uses, but their suggestions have been ignored.

It was the second time within a year that faculty members and state officials have visited the Interior Department to lodge such a complaint.

Originally, the meeting was called to press the federal government for substantial aid to finance a continuing, five-year coal research program, but the meeting skirted that issue.

Dr. William Spackman, professor in the Department of Mineral Industries at Penn State, said "We submitted 19 proposals to the department which we considered were possibilities for research. They were all rejected and we don't understand why."

Penn State has a major facility for coal research.

Acquire Weldit

SYCAMORE, Ill. (UPI) — Turner Corp. said Friday it has purchased Weldit, Inc., of Detroit. Weldit, manufacturer and distributor of acetylene and liquefied petroleum torches and equipment, will be operated as a division of Turner.

He then introduced James C. Hagerty, Salinger's predecessor in the Eisenhower administration, as the man who had perfected management of the news.

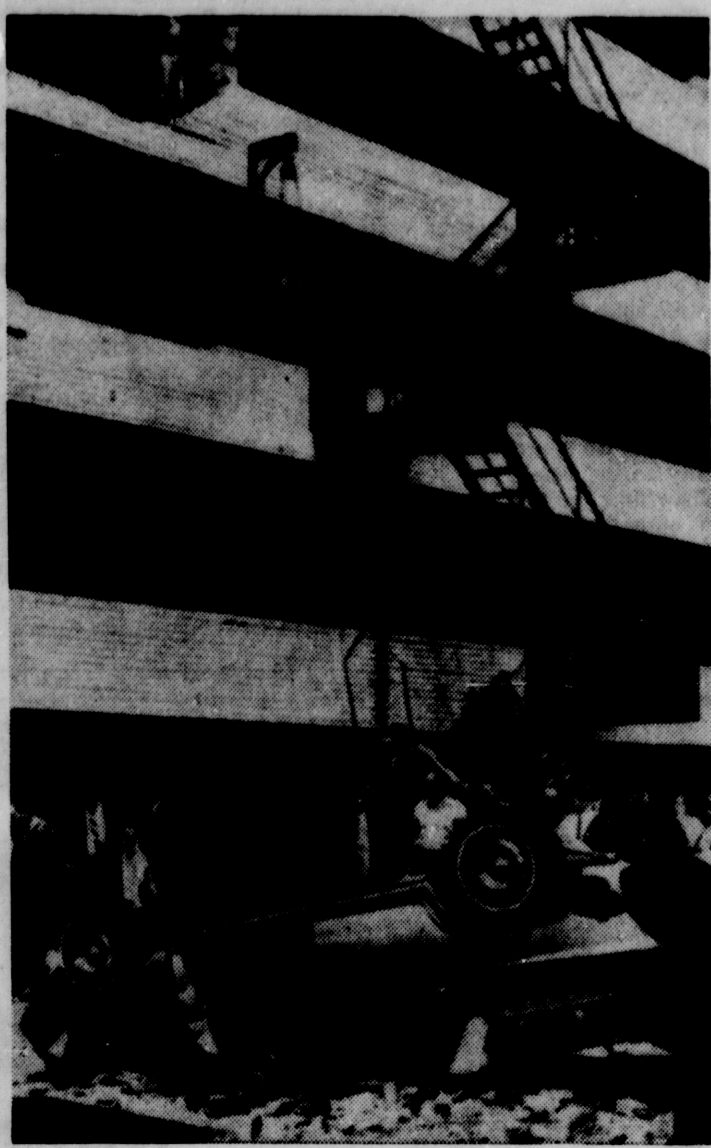

Finally, he called on Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester to stand and said Sylvester was the only man in Washington who ever admitted managing the news.

"If they will quit trying to manage the news, we — for this night only, of course — will stop trying to run the government," Roth said.

Merv Griffin, the television personality, was master of ceremonies. Speaking of the new home being built by the President and Mrs. Kennedy in nearby Virginia, he said:

"Good luck to the people who rented the Kennedys' home at Rattlesnake Hill. But I wouldn't want the president of the United States as my landlord. I'd be a little reluctant in the middle of the night to call the White House to complain that there's no hot water."

Whenever the President as the landlord paid his monthly visit, Griffin said, the tenants would have to play "Hail to the Chief."

Plunges Through Wall

A parking garage attendant suffered only minor injuries when the car he was parking on the fourth floor of a downtown Dallas, Tex., garage plunged through a retaining wall and fell to the ground. Police said the attendant, George P. Wilson, told them the brakes failed to hold as he was parking the car and it crashed through the wall, upper left, trapping Wilson inside.

JFK Receives Bread Slicer

Correspondents Honor President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was given an automatic bread slicer Friday night to save him from future public appearances with a bandaged finger.

The birthday gift was presented at a dinner held in honor of the President by the White House Correspondents' Association and the White House News Photographers' Association. Kennedy observes his 46th birthday next Wednesday.

Merriman Smith of United Press International, dean of White House reporters and the new president and a former president of the correspondents' association, presented the gift in front of about 1,500 guests.

"At a recent press conference, you showed up with a bandage on your hand," Smith said to the President. "You told us it was a cut suffered while slicing bread. We would not be so presumptuous as to suggest that you stay out of the kitchen, but we want to make it a safe place for you."

He then showed the President the electric bread slicer manufactured by the General Slicing Machine Co. of Walden, N.Y.

On behalf of the correspondents' association, the President then gave Smith a Hamilton watch in gratitude for Smith's work in arranging entertainment at the White House dinners during the administrations of four presidents.

Robert Roth, Washington bureau chief for the Philadelphia Bulletin and retiring president of the correspondents' association, introduced White House News Secretary Pierre Salinger as the boss of "managed news."

He then introduced James C. Hagerty, Salinger's predecessor in the Eisenhower administration, as the man who had perfected management of the news.

Finally, he called on Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester to stand and said Sylvester was the only man in Washington who ever admitted managing the news.

"If they will quit trying to manage the news, we — for this night only, of course — will stop trying to run the government," Roth said.

Merv Griffin, the television personality, was master of ceremonies. Speaking of the new home being built by the President and Mrs. Kennedy in nearby Virginia, he said:

Whenever the President as the landlord paid his monthly visit, Griffin said, the tenants would have to play "Hail to the Chief."

Khrushchev Schedules Cuban Visit

Accepts Invitation
As Castro Ends Stay
In Soviet Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has accepted an invitation to visit Cuba, the "first socialist state in America," the Soviet government announced Saturday.

Khrushchev also warned that Russia would reply to any attack on Cuba "with all the means at its disposal."

A joint communique issued at the windup of a visit by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro said the Soviet leader had accepted "with gratitude" Castro's invitation to visit the island republic. But no date was mentioned in the communique. It was issued by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The communique said Khrushchev has agreed to alter a trade agreement with Cuba in order to pay the Cubans the full world price for sugar, presently hovering at around $280 a ton. This means the Soviets will to a certain extent take over the role the United States traditionally had with pre-Castro Cuba.

"There is no fatal inevitability of world war in our time," the communique said, in obvious reference to the ideological conflict with Red China.

"The sides noted with complete unanimity that in the present conditions the struggle for peace is the most important task of mankind."

This was a barb for Mao Tse-tung's Chinese, who favor a high-risk policy as opposed to Khrushchev's doctrine of co-existence with the West.

The promise of a visit by Khrushchev comes more than four years after the bearded Castro came to power and in swift steps turned Cuba into a Soviet ally only 90 miles from Florida. First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited Havana in February 1960, however, and was there again last fall on the delicate task of conveying to Castro the decision by Khrushchev to withdraw Soviet missiles from Cuba.

Apparently the ruffled feelings of Castro at the missile withdrawal figured prominently in his talks here, for the communique laid heavy stress on Soviet intentions to go to the aid of Castro against any attack.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII, steadily regaining strength, worked briefly Friday morning and then went into a nine-day spiritual retreat.

The pre-Pentecost retreat, or novena, provided the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler a chance to rest before facing the hot Italian summer and a mounting pile of Ecumenical Council business.

It was not the first time he had gone into spiritual retreat, but this year the prayer period had added significance, for his health.

Tuesday night he suffered a relapse in his illness, a stomach disorder believed to be an ulcer or cancer with hemorrhaging. He has received blood transfusions and is taking blood clotting agents.

Obstacles Are Overcome To Assure This Wedding

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Richard King and his bride are on their honeymoon in Dixie today, but for a time there seemed to be too many obstacles to their once-delayed wedding.

Richard, 21, a surveyor, and Nancy Moore, 22, a registered nurse, looked forward to a church wedding.

On the eve of the ceremony, the Rev. Donald A. Buchhold went to the hospital for an appendectomy. He suggested another minister but his replacement said if the couple would wait a day, perhaps Buchhold could perform the ceremony.

There seems to be no end to the hitches that preceded the 12-minute "ows Thursday in the chapel at Methodist Evangelical Hospital.

Nancy wanted police detective, Stanley E. Meyer to give her away. For 18 years, he had been the partner of her late father. Police radioed a message to Meyer and got him to the hospital on time.

Nancy also wanted Mrs. Meyer for her matron of honor. She was at work in nearby New Albany, Ind., but rushed to the hospital and made a last-second change in attire as a staff member borrowed high-heeled shoes and a jacket for her.

Nurse Gloria Craig played the wedding march, though a bit off tune. She is a pianist and accordionist, and only once before played the organ.

For flowers, the bride carried a bouquet of roses — intercepted on the way to a patient.

And the minister — he was there in his pajamas, robe and wheelchair.

SETH KANTOR

Reporter Won't Name Source Of TFX Story

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A newspaper reporter declined to tell Senate investigators Friday the names of sources for his story accurately predicting the winner of the TFX warplane contract a month before the award was made.

Seth Kantor of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance told the senators he would like to cooperate but he had promised his two sources he would not disclose their names.

Kantor's story appeared in the Fort Worth, Tex., Press on Oct. 24 and said General Dynamics Corp. would get the $6.5 billion TFX contract. He quoted "top government sources."

It was not until Nov. 24 that the Pentagon announced General Dynamics had won over its chief rival, Boeing Co.

Kantor's story was published less than two weeks before the Nov. 6 congressional elections.

Because of this, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, asked Kantor if he believed the story was "planted" to help the political fortunes of Texas Democrats. General Dynamics' main plant is at Fort Worth.

Kantor said he did not get that impression when he talked to his sources. The reporter added he was convinced it was an accurate story supplied by "wholly reliable, very high echelon people" of cabinet level in the government.

Kantor, 37, a reporter for 17 years and Washington correspondent for the Fort Worth paper since 1957, said his sources were "not the decision makers" in the TFX affair.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, said there was an "awfully important" conflict between Kantor's story and the Pentagon's insistence that no decision had been made at that time.

This Wedding
Ends In Splash

TOKYO (AP) — The bride peeled off her wedding gown and plunged into the swimming pool. The bridegroom doffed his tuxedo and followed his bride into the water.

She in a white bathing suit and he in dark trunks splashed across the pool, hand in hand, to complete their poolside wedding Friday. Friends and relatives applauded.

The bridegroom was Toshiro Taguchi, 28, swimming coach of Tokyo's Chuo University, and his bride was Zuiho Atarashi, 22, an ardent swimmer.

Obstacles Are Overcome
To Assure This Wedding

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Nine Negro demonstrators were carried bodily from the office of Mayor David Schenck Friday after they threatened to sit-in until he called a special meeting of the city council.

The incident came only two hours after a resolution urging integration of Greensboro businesses was endorsed unofficially by the city's governing body.

Mayor Schenck had said earlier the mayor's reception room and refused to leave. Police Capt. W. H. Jackson asked them to walk out to a paddy wagon. The nine sat on the floor, wrapped their arms around their knees and refused to budge. Jackson ordered them carried out.

They were booked on a charge of loitering and causing a nuisance in a public building.

15 Nations Finish Talks At Ottawa

Communique Cites
Four Points
In New Proposal

Atlantic Treaty Organization members wound up their spring ministerial meeting Friday after spelling out details of a new inter-Allied nuclear force created to give more muscle to Allied striking power.

The four-point plan was outlined in a communique approved by foreign and defense ministers of NATO just before they ended a three-day session.

NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker hailed the nuclear agreement as an important advance for the Alliance.

In the communique, the ministers declared the West remains faced with a continuing threat. They expressed special concern about Communist threats in Berlin, Cuba and Laos.

"The members of the North Atlantic Alliance have both the right and the duty to protect their freedom and independence," the statement said.

The document referred to the nuclear steps as a plan "to organize the nuclear forces assigned or to be assigned to the supreme Allied commander" in Europe, Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer.

To meet French objections, the new structure was left without a name. The main points of the program were:

—Assignment of the British V-bomber force of 180 planes and three U.S. Polaris submarines to the NATO command.

—Appointment of a deputy by Lemnitzer to be responsible to him for nuclear affairs.

—Arrangement for officers from member countries to take part in nuclear activities at NATO headquarters and in coordination of operational planning at Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

—Fuller information to national authorities, both political and military.

The communique said the "ministers welcomed these measures to increase the effectiveness of the nuclear capability at the disposal of the Alliance and to improve coordination and control of its nuclear deterrent."

Stikker said the choice of the deputy will be made by Lemnitzer. Consultations have been taking place on the nationality of the deputy, but no decision has been reached. Stikker said.

The inter-Allied force was regarded as only a small step toward the proposed multilateral nuclear force advocated by the United States. The latter would have some 200 Polaris missiles, on surface vessels, manned by mixed crews and under joint command. France has balked at this.

On the multilateral force, Stikker had this to say: "Consultations are now going on. The matter has to be brought back to the council, but it is not yet ripe and ready."

In addition to the nuclear striking force, the major military question considered by the ministers was that of balance between nuclear and conventional arms.

They directed the permanent NATO Council to undertake, with the advice of military authorities, "further studies of the interrelated questions of strategy, force requirements and the resources available to meet them."

Judge Sodaro Says Censorship Law Is Valid

Appeals Court Gets First Challenge

BALTIMORE (AP)—The first direct challenge of the constitutionality of prior censorship of movies in Maryland headed for the state Court of Appeals Friday.

Judge Anselm Sodaro upheld the fundamental validity of Maryland's film censorship law against what he called a broadside attack.

The Rex Theater in Baltimore deliberately instituted a court test of censorship itself by showing the film "Revenge at Daybreak" without submitting it to the Motion Picture Censor Board.

The film is about the Irish Revolution and in itself would not be considered objectionable from the moral viewpoint on which censorship is based.

But state law requires every film to be approved and licensed by the board in advance of showing in Maryland.

Roger E. Whiteford, attorney for the Rex, argued this was interference with free flow of interstate commerce, violated the due process of law, and impaired rights of free speech and free press under the U.S. Constitution.

"This challenged provision, requiring the submission of films prior to their public exhibition," Judge Sodaro said in his opinion, "is not, on the grounds set forth by the defendant, void on its face."

"Although this challenged section imposes a previous restraint, the ambit (limit) of constitutional protection does not include complete and absolute freedom to exhibit any and every kind of motion picture."

He fined Ronald L. Freedman, 29, operator of the theater, $25 and costs of $42.25. Whiteford immediately noted intention to appeal.

Maryland has been censoring movies since 1916. During the years, court decisions gradually have whittled away the grounds on which the censors may prohibit showing or order portions deleted.

The censors now may find only that a film is obscene and that is defined as when considered as a whole the movie's "calculated purpose or dominant effect is substantially to arouse sexual desires."

Two Receive Freedom Honor

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—An officer-instructor at the Naval Academy and a graduating midshipman whose family Latvia just before it fell behind the Iron Curtain have been awarded medals by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

Lt. Jordan Pecile of Hazelton, Pa., and Midshipman Imants A. Straupeniks of Williamstown, Conn., received the foundation's George Washington Honor Medal for their letters on "my freedoms and my responsibilities, subject of a contest among servicemen."

Lt. Pecile, an instructor in English at the academy, is the son of Mrs. Anna Pecile of Hazelton. Straupeniks, who arrived in this country as a displaced person 13 years ago, will be commissioned an ensign in the Navy Supply Corps upon graduation June 5.

He spoke no English when he came to America but regards it now as his strongest subject.

Historic Figures Now On Display

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A $10,000 collection of tiny figures portraying some highlights of world history is on display at the Naval Academy.

Adolph Hitler and bodyguards ride in a limousine with motorcycle escorts in one display made in pre-World War II Germany.

Some 25 musket-wielding warriors struggle for control of a medieval castle during the Seven Years' War between Austria and Prussia.

The collection is made up of numerous private collections and is on loan from the Miniature Figure Collectors of America to the Naval Academy's Department of English, History and Government.

Bituminous Coal Output Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bituminous coal output for the week ended May 18, totaled 9,145,000 tons (incomplete) compared with 9,215,000 tons the prior week and 8,222,000 tons in the same week the year before, the National Coal Association reported Friday.

Output for the year-to-date approximated 166,423,000 tons against 164,953,000 tons in the similar period the previous year.

Obtain U.S. Rights

NEW YORK (UPI)—Alexander De Markoff, a subsidiary of Charles of the Ritz, Inc., said Friday it has obtained U. S. rights to the Hermes Line of French Perfume Fragrances. Richard Salomon, president of Charles of the Ritz, said a fragrance called Caleche, will be put on the U.S. market in September.

Youths Found In Ice Box

Two brothers, Kenneth, two, left, and Brian LaCours, four, of Lowell, Mass., were found dead yesterday in an unused refrigerator in their home. The children had been missing since Thursday. The bodies were found by two police inspectors, one on top of the other and Police Capt. Richard Cullen said "I believe we have a case of murder." (AP Photofax)

Norwich Dean To Expel Panty Raid Ringleaders

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—The dean of Norwich University, a military school, angrily declared Friday he probably would expel the "mad dog" ringleaders of a panty raid-riot on all-girl Vermont college as soon as he can find them.

Police had to fire shots over the heads of 300 cadets and use high pressure water hoses to turn them away from six dormitories at the two-year liberal arts college.

Police Chief George Connor said his men had an "extremely difficult" time because "they always attacked from the rear... it must be part of their military training."

Capture Fire Truck
When the first fire truck arrived on the scene of the riot, the cadets captured it and turned its hose on the next fire truck that came.

The cadets wrecked several police cruisers, stole the firemen's hats, smashed dormitory windows and kicked down two doors, and littered the campus with rocks, bottles and beer cans.

Col. Lewis E. Perry, vice president and dean of the military college, apologized for the school and promised that full restitution would be made for the damage caused in the riot.

"We are now engaged in seeking to determine the ringleaders," he said. "When they are found they will be appropriately punished. In all probability some will be separated from the college."

Badly Outnumbered
"We were so badly outnumbered that it was not possible to make any arrests or do anything but protect dormitory doors," Connor said.

"It was the most disgusting thing I have ever seen. The cadets acted like wild animals... like mad dogs."

Dr. Ralph Noble, president of Vermont College, admitted that some of the girls encouraged the cadets by leaning out of their dormitory windows and waving lacy under clothing.

"Contact was made with only one dormitory," he said. "All the dormitories were locked but the doors on two were smashed down. You can appreciate that with 500 girls locked up in the dormitories and several hundred raiders running around the campus, the girls are apt to get a little excited."

Cuban Refugees Tell Of Base

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Construction of a Russian submarine base in Cuba's Oriente Province and a heavy buildup of Soviet troops in that area were reported Friday by refugees arriving in Florida on the cargo ship Morning Light.

Oriente Province lies just across the windward passage from the island of Hispaniola, which embraces troubled Haiti and the Dominican Republic. There have been reports of Communist infiltration in the two countries.

Ramon de la Torre, one of 751 refugees who rode the Morning Light to freedom in the United States, said it is common knowledge in the city of Holguin that the Soviets have a busy submarine base at nearby Puerto Rico Beach.

Soviet subs are seen frequently in the surrounding waters, and hundreds of oil tanks have been erected in the area.

"You see two Russians for every Cuban in Oriente Province," said De La Torre, who worked on a farm near Holguin until he obtained the Castro government's permission to leave Cuba.

Mrs. Kennedy, Children Travel To Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP)—First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and her two children flew by helicopter to Camp David Friday for another weekend in the Catoctin Mountains of nearby Maryland.

The President attends a White House correspondents and news photographers association's dinner Friday night and is expected to join his family later in the weekend.

Dies Of Cancer

TOKYO (AP)—Dr. Yuzo Tazaki, 64, one of Japan's cancer authorities, died of cancer in a Tokyo hospital Friday.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE (AP)—More arguments will be heard June 7 on motions to have a conspiracy indictment against A. Gordon Boone and five other persons dismissed.

Boone is self-suspended speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates. He and the others are charged in connection with the operation of Security Financial Insurance Corp., which had guaranteed accounts in savings and loan associations.

The arguments had been scheduled Friday in U.S. District Court but were postponed.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will get together with Gov. Tawes June 17 to discuss the future of Assateague Island.

The federal and state governments are at odds on the best way to develop the 26-mile spit of sand off the Worcester County mainland. Maryland proposes building a park on part of the island and permitting private development of the remainder. The federal government proposes preserving the island in its natural state without development.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A bootleg whisky still in downtown Baltimore. That was the charge against Vivian Smith, sentenced to nine months imprisonment Friday in U.S. District Court.

Smith pleaded guilty before Judge R. Dorsey Watkins to a charge of operating a bootleg whisky still in a third-floor apartment on East Chase Street.

Internal Revenue agents who arrested him said they seized 249 gallons of wheat bran mash, 12 gallons of distilled whisky and a 60-gallon still.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy's Bureau of Naval Weapons has awarded a $17,747,576 contract to Thiokol Chemical Corp., Bristol, Pa., for production of liquid-propellant rocket engines for Bulpup "A" missiles for the Navy and Air Force, it was announced Friday.

The work will be done at Bristol.

The announcement was made through the office of Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.

Maryland Girl Killed By Auto

CORDOVA, Md. (AP)—A 13-year-old girl was killed Friday, Police said, when she ran into the path of a car on Maryland 309, one mile south of Cordova.

Police said the victim, Hattie Mae Warner of Cordova, ran into the path of a southbound car driven by William F. Messix Jr., 18, also of Cordova, after waiting on the roadside for a northbound bus to pass.

She was pronounced dead at Memorial Hospital in Easton. Hers was Maryland's 221st highway fatality this year; 183 had died a year ago at this time.

British Columbia, the western province of Canada, is almost wholly mountainous.

Perkins Fights Speedy Action In Assault Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin C. Perkins, 38, sometimes a merchant seaman and often a candidate for elected office, was carried kicking and yelling Friday from Municipal Court where he was held on an assault charge.

"I'm being persecuted, my legal rights are being taken away," shouted Perkins as six policemen took him to a cell.

The judge was Jerome Robinson who knew Perkins well as a frequent visitor to Maryland legislatures where Robinson was a delegate.

Judge Robinson ordered Perkins held on $5,000 bail for the grand jury. Perkins was charged with kicking a fellow occupant of a rooming house.

Police wanted the case postponed until June 3. Perkins objected.

"I've got another legal case coming up in Annapolis and one in Delaware," he said.

Perkins is a frequent filer of court suits, usually in his own handwriting, as well as candidate for office. After the 1963 session of the Senate went beyond the midnight adjournment deadline, Perkins filed suit in Anne Arundel Circuit Court challenging constitutionality of its actions.

State Police Lead Trucks After Scare

FREDERICK (AP)—Trucks hauling cement from Maryland to Virginia were given State Police escort Friday after a trucking firm said it received a bombing threat.

George Bainbridge, regional manager for the Mitchell Transport Co. of Union Bridge, Carroll County, said an anonymous telephone call said one of his firm's trucks would be blown up.

The company's bulk cement trucks were carrying cement from the Lehigh Portland Cement Co. to several ready-mix plants in Fairfax and Arlington counties of Virginia.

Bainbridge said the 12 trucks reached their different destinations without incident.

Abandon Merger Plans

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Officials of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries Inc. and Chicago Mill & Lumber Co. have abandoned plans for a proposed merger.

The decision was announced jointly by Presidents D. A. McGee of Kerr-McGee and J. H. Dunn of Chicago Mill & Lumber. The announcement said directors of the two companies had determined that the proposed merger "could not be timely accomplished and therefore voted to terminate and abandon the proposed merger."

Negro Leaders Will Decide On Next Step

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Negro leaders will decide Saturday whether to resume demonstrations protesting discrimination in Cambridge.

"At this particular time, I have heard nothing that would lead us to believe there is any hope for the integration of facilities," Mrs. Gloria Richardson said in advance of the meeting in the Bethel A.M.E. Church.

The demonstrations are certain to resume, she said, "unless some big steps have been made toward meeting" ultimatums by Negroes last week.

Mrs. Richardson is head of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee which agreed last week to suspend demonstrations while a volunteer group of whites sought to satisfy the demands.

Circuit Judge W. Laird Henry Jr. was chairman of the new group named the Committee for Interracial Understanding.

Judge Henry's committee has held only one meeting with businessmen and Mrs. Richardson noted it was only with owners of 11 of the 20 restaurants. The owners made no commitments.

Montgomery Prosecutor Seeks Probe Of His Action

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—State's Atty. Leonard T. Kardy of Montgomery County said Friday he is asking the Montgomery County Bar Association to investigate his handling of a court case which led a Washington judge to call him a liar.

He termed the accusation of Judge John A. Burnett of the District of Columbia Domestic Relations Court "unfounded and completely ridiculous and untrue."

Burnett made his remarks Thursday as he considered a divorce action brought by Michael J. Spatola, a hotel bellhop.

Spatola, 39, of Washington, sought to have set aside an Alabama divorce decree granted his wife in 1961. Burnett ruled in favor of Spatola, holding that the paper it was written on "because, he said, the wife had been in Alabama too short a time to be considered a resident there."

Kardy was associated in the case in a private capacity as counsel for Mrs. Spatola.

Spatola testified Thursday that Kardy offered to drop assault charges against him in Montgomery County if he would sign waivers of appearance in court in Alabama.

Kardy denied in court Thursday that he had made any such offer to Spatola. But the judge, in his findings later, said that "I find that he (Kardy) lied and if it were up to me I would send the whole

Deaths And Funerals

GEORGE A. PADGETT

George A. Padgett, 66, a former resident, died yesterday in Aliquippa, Pa., after an illness of five days.

Born in Baltimore he was a son of the late John M. and Alice (Duvall) Padgett. Mr. Padgett moved from here to Aliquippa in 1928 and was a forman for Jones and Laughlin Steel Company there until his retirement a year ago.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy (Moreland) Padgett; one brother, Alfred E. Padgett, Aliquippa, and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Sommerkamp, city.

A service and interment will take place in Aliquippa on Monday.

MRS. ROBERT YOUNG

PETERSBURG — Helen Young, 76, died yesterday at Grant County Memorial Hospital after an extended illness.

Born in Bathgate, Scotland, she was a daughter of the late Henry and Helen (Thomson) Hardy. Her husband, Rev. Robert N. Young, preceded her in death. She was a member of Petersburg EUB Church and she and her husband served that pastorate for six years.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Iris Parsons, Petersburg, and Mrs. Marie Bounds, Ellicott City Md.; one son, William H. Young, Miami, Fla.; five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Robert Hunter and three brothers, James, John and Henry Hardy, all of Scotland.

The body is at the Arnold Funeral Home where friends will be received after 2 p. m. today.

A service will be conducted at Petersburg EUB Church tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Wilton Thomas. Interment will be in Lahmansville Cemetery. The body will be taken to the church an hour before the service.

MONAHAN BURIAL

FROSTBURG — A requiem mass for Arthur A. Monahan, 54, of Eckhart, who died Wednesday, will be celebrated today at 9:30 a. m. at St. Michael's Catholic Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Members of James P. Love Post, American Legion, Lonaconing will serve as pallbearers.

Soviets Fire Cosmos 18 Into Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today the launching of the eighteenth in its Cosmos series of unmanned satellites.

It was the second such announcement this week. Cosmos 17 was fired into orbit Wednesday. The Soviet news agency Tass said the Cosmos 18 launching was routine.

The satellites are being used to gather information about conditions in space preliminary—Western observers believe—to something in the way of a manned space ship.

Concord College Speakers Named

ATHENS, W. Va. (UPI)—Charles H. Malik, former United Nations General Assembly President, and President Kennedy's special assistant, Brooks Hays, will participate in Concord College Commencement exercises next month.

Malik will speak at the 88th annual baccalaureate June 2 and Hays will address commencement exercises June 3.

Construction Work To Begin At College

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—Construction of $2.15 million worth of building projects at West Liberty State College will be launched Monday with groundbreaking ceremonies.

The work, expected to be completed by September, 1964, calls for construction of two men's dormitories housing 132 students, a women's hall housing 140 coeds and five faculty women and a food service addition to Rogers Hall to accommodate 700 students.

West Virginians Seek Queen Title

PINEVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Two West Virginia girls were among 22 competing for the title of queen of the 27th annual Mountain Laurel Festival at Pine Mountain State Park near here Friday.

They were Miss Linda Roman, Oak Hill, Fayette County, a student at Sue Bennett Junior College, and Norma Porter, New Martinsville, a student at Morehead College.

Quinn Attends Toastmaster Event

Patrick Quinn, Frostburg, a member of Allegany Toastmasters Club, attended the 21st annual convention of Toastmasters International District 13 last week in Pittsburgh.

The local club meets every Thursday at 6 p. m. in the cafeteria at the Amelle plant of the Celanese Fibers Company and the meeting is open to the public.

Eleven of the state's subdivisions are excluded from the law. They are Calvert, Caroline, Dorchester, Garrett, Kent, Queen Annes, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester counties.

The law defines a place of public accommodation as any hotel, restaurant, inn, motel, or an establishment known or recognized as regularly engaged in the business of providing sleeping accommodations, or serving food, or both which is open to the public. Generally excluded from the law are bars, taverns and cocktail lounges.

Enforcement of the law is generally under direction of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations. Stipulated in its provisions is that it will be unlawful to refuse public accommodations because of race, creed, color or national origin of any person.

The law in Carroll County will not apply, pending results of a referendum which must be held prior to its Congressional election in November, 1964.

Memorial Day Holiday May Take 90 Lives

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council estimated Friday that between 90 and 130 persons would be killed in automobile traffic over the Memorial Day holiday.

The period covered by the estimate is from 6 p. m. local time Wednesday, May 29, through midnight Thursday, May 30. A year ago, when the holiday fell on Wednesday, there were 107 traffic fatalities in the 30-hour holiday driving period.

Bids Received By Armory Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Architects had under consideration Friday bids received by the State Armory Board for construction of a $360,000 field and maintenance shop facility for the National Guard Armory at Pt. Pleasant.

The board said bids received Thursday will be submitted to Washington after a review by the architects.

Six general construction bids and various quotations for electrical, heating and plumbing work were received, the board said.

Rough Collection

MONTREAL (AP) — "We don't turn a fellow upside down any more and then pick up the money as it falls out of his pockets," says K. D. Coulthard of Montreal's Allied Collection Agencies.

While the "tough old days" of collecting overdue accounts is past, collection agencies still don't always have an easy time of it, Coulthard says.

His advice for those caught in debt: get in touch with the creditor and tell him how much can be paid per week. Many will accept payment that way.

Couple Million Holes

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Nearly two million wells have been drilled for oil or gas since petroleum production began in this country.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America put the total as of Jan. 1, 1962, at 1,869,299 — of which 28.2 per cent were dry holes.

Local Girls To Establish Library In Philippines

Sandra L. Roeder and Janet B. Shanholtz, both of Cumberland, are among a group of students selected to go to the Philippines to establish a library and train township people in its operation this summer.

"Operation Philippines," a project of the Student Opportunity Service group at Western Maryland College, Westminster, had as its goal the collection of 5,000 books and $5,000 to help establish the library at San Narciso on Luzon. Cumberland residents joined in the appeal after the project was publicized here.

Overall, about 10,000 books and $4,700 have been subscribed to date.

Miss Roeder and Miss Shanholtz are two of six students selected to go to San Narciso. The SOS group is still working to complete its quota of funds to process books, purchase necessary equipment, ship books to the West Coast and send the field service team.

The U.S. Navy will transport the books from San Diego and has also helped the native population construct a building.

Recently, members of the SOS group were entertained at a picnic on the farm of Dr. L. Earl Griswold, association professor of sociology, who has been advisor on the project.

"The Ship of Fools," written in 1494, was the best known work of Sebastian Brant, German humanist and poet. It tells satirically of over 100 fools, representing every contemporary shortcoming, setting sail for Narragansett, the fool's paradise. A current best seller in "Ship of Fools" by Katherine Anne Porter.

Driving By Instruments

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP) — A radar receiver on the automobile dashboard is the "car of tomorrow" feature advocated by a company here.

Under the proposed system, radar transmitters would be installed at blind railroad crossings, bad curves, accidents, work areas, etc. Small transister receiving sets in cars would pick up the radar beams and beep, whereupon drivers would slow down and drive with extra caution until the hazard is passed.

Radatron Inc., which has both transmitters and receivers ready to market, admits some police men are against auto - installed radar. They say it gives motorists an unfair spying advantage on police radar which is spying on them.

Forty-five American war correspondents — photographers and reporters — were killed in World War II, and 16 died in the Korean conflict.

Democratic Club Hears Reports On Activities

Committee reports were received at a meeting of the Coordinating Council of the Democratic Party in Allegany County at a meeting at the Liberty Trust Company building headquarters, Mrs. Ursula Smith, registration chairman, reported the following program. Funds will be used to purchase supplies and pay for other headquarters expenses. A general discussion was held on a recently published statement by a member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners at a meeting in Hagerstown of Western Maryland county commissioners that "only 50 per cent of the budget is allotted for educational purposes."

The group stated that of the total amount of county taxes is $4,038,500 and of this sum, $3,460,518.27 will be spent for education. This is 75 per cent of the county tax levy, it was stated.

GOP Council Selects 'Operation Adoption'

A project, "operation adoption," was selected at a special meeting of a committee of the Co-ordinating Council of Republican Clubs of Allegany County, which was held earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Leah Hafer, president, National Highway.

Plans will be completed at another meeting next week, the time and place to be selected, Robert Lewis was named chairman of the committee, which includes Mrs. Sara Rank, Gerald Barb of the State Central Committee and Mrs. Hafer, ex-officio member.

Officers of the council serving with Mrs. Hafer are Mrs. George Barnard, first vice president, representing the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland; Charles Broadwater, second vice president; from the Frostburg men's club; Mrs. Emory Loar, Frostburg, treasurer; Frostburg women's club; and Miss Jane Williams, secretary, representing the Young Republican Club.

The council, composed of three members of each club in the county, is required to have six meetings a year. Mrs. Hafer pointed out that it is hoped that general meetings to work on the project will begin in June.

Leslie Brinkman Heads Memorial Bowling League

Officers were elected and awards were presented at the dinner meeting of the Memorial Hospital Bowling League, held last evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

28 Clubs Represented At Program

Demonstration agents, Miss Imogene Romino, Miss Betty Barnard, Washington County, and Mrs. Freda Denison, Garrett County, were guests at the third Miniature Short Course held yesterday at the Western Maryland 4-H Center. Twenty-eight clubs were represented with over 200 members attending. They are Bedford Road, Bowling Green, Cresap, East Side, Eckhart, Elerslie, Flintstone, Frostburg, Happy Valley, Mapleside, LaVale, McCool, Midland, Midlothian, Mt. Savage, North Branch, North Cumberland, Piney Plains, Pleasant Grove, Potomac Park, Progressive Young Women, Shaft, Spring Gap, Twiggstown, Town Creek, Union Grove, Valley Road and Westernport.

Mrs. Adam Baer extended greetings. Mrs. Arthur Howard conducted devotions, using the topic, "What Is That In Thy Hand?" The program, "Parade of Ideas," included Mrs. Paul Gilford, who told how various hymns based on the Psalms have been set to music. Mrs. R. W. Trevasik accompanied group singing. The Homemakers Chorus sang "My God and I" and "Balm of Gilead." Mrs. Gilford was soloist for the latter.

Different steps in making a tossed garden salad were shown by Miss Mary Wise, who spoke on color, form, texture and flavor of foods, illustrating with posters. She was assisted by Mrs. Patricia Seaton. She also reminded members of the RWSC that June 4 from 1 until 3 at the Woman's Civic Club house, and College Week for Women, June 18-22 at the University of Maryland.

The invocation for a covered dish luncheon was given by Mrs. John S. Cook. Mrs. Earle Grosweiler, Harford County, was guest speaker. She explained parliamentary procedure and stressed that it provides order. She also discussed details for making and handling a motion, the purpose of a nominating committee, disposing of reports, and emphasized the duties of the president and secretary. She stressed the importance of beginning on time.

Discussing hobbies Mrs. Forrest Snyder quoted the American Hobby Federation as listing collecting glassware, stamps or coins, photography, painting, collecting autographs and dolls, needlework, woodwork and making models as the most popular. She had a display of each and pointed out how they offer enjoyment, friendship and knowledge.

A conducted tour of the center was arranged by Mrs. Paul Rice. Vespers were based on "Come Apart and Rest Awhile." Mrs. Baer read a poem, "Into the Woods My Master Went," and sang, "I Love To Steal Awhile Away." The group read the Psalm. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Howard, and Mrs. Douglas Smith gave the introduction of the hymn. Rev. H. B. Wright of Frostburg Methodist Church gave a sermonette on the theme "Steal Away."

Mrs. Joseph Steger was in charge of the luncheon, assisted by members of various clubs. Mrs. Blaine Willetts handled transportation.

The ostrich is the largest living bird.

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am going to be engaged to a wonderful person. He told me last evening that he will give me a wrist watch instead of a ring because he is a Seventh Day Adventist and they do not believe in wearing jewelry. A wrist watch is considered utilitarian and is therefore acceptable.

He is a deeply religious man and I respect his views but when a girl is engaged people expect to see a ring on her finger. It would be easier to wear a ring than to explain to my friends and family why I don't have one.

Some of the people at work have even suggested that my fiancé made up the story about no rings. They claim to know Seventh Day Adventists who do wear jewelry. Can you tell me if this is so or not?

—HIS INTENDED
Dear Intended: The devout members of this religious group do not wear jewelry — even wedding rings. The Seventh Day Adventists who do wear jewelry are not living up to their religious teachings in the strictest sense of the word.

Dear Ann Landers: When my husband describes an incident he distorts the details beyond recognition. He adds frills and sometimes he switches the whole story around and even makes up a new ending.

He has been doing this for almost 20 years. I've called him on it — in private, of course — but it hasn't helped.

Yesterday our nine-year-old son said to me, "Daddy is a nice man but he lies. He told Uncle Harold about what happened at the ball park and it wasn't like daddy said at all. It was right there and some of those things never happened." I didn't know what to say to the boy so I changed the subject. It is bound to come up again. Please give me some help. I hate to tell our son his dad is a liar.

—ASHAMED
Dear Ashamed: People who embroider stories beyond recognition are basically dishonest. Liar is a strong word, but you can find a better one, I'll buy it.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Salt Away Skin Conditioning Before
Braving The Beach

A salt rub once a week before-hand is excellent preparation for those beach days ahead. Covered-up skin won't look so embarrassingly lily white after salt-rubs give it a healthy glow.

After a hot bath, enjoyed luxuriously longer than usual, the next steps go this way:

Remove yourself, pink and dripping, from the hot bath, to a large bath towel or bath mat laid on the floor beside the tub. Drain the tub immediately and start refilling it with tepid water.

A bath brush, a saucer of salt, and a bottle of body lotion are needed. Lather the body brush, dip it into the salt and gently rub the soap and salt mixture into every inch of your skin from the chin down. Re-soap and re-salt as often as is necessary. Don't scrub, but use enough pressure—especially on elbows, heels, wrists, and shoulders, which probably need extra attention.

Your skin will begin to feel at its live best as soon as you are well covered with the soap-salt mixture. After washing it off in the tepid bath, give yourself a brisk rub-down with a towel that's not too soft to enhance the all-over feeling of well being. Finish the treatment with the body lotion, spread on and then allowed to dry, and a final rub-down with a soft towel.

Enthusiastic as you may be about the salt rub, don't use it more than once a week or when your skin is tender from sunburn.

Bone-weary? Cross? Never fun to be with? Perk up your spirits and restore your charm-quotient now! "Personality Plus Through Diet," a teen-slanted diet guide and personality builder, may be just the thing to pep up your flagging charm. A quarter and your name and address sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper, will bring you your handy copy.

PIONEERS For TOMORROW

Pioneers are as plentiful today as ever... indeed, in this world of ever-new frontiers, you too, are a pioneer.

As such, you bear great responsibility, for defined, "a pioneer is one who goes before, preparing the way for others to follow."

The Church reaches out to you in greatest urgency. It needs you to help, by example and precept, combat the greed and intolerance that today threaten our world.

The Church needs you as another pioneer in Christian example and thinking. You can help prepare the way for others by promoting generosity, kindness, and love toward all other human beings.

Through the Church you can, as a pioneer, strive most effectively toward generous, tolerant tomorrows for your fellowmen.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Brother John Is Honored By CWV Group

Brother Emanuel John formerly of the faculty of LaSalle High School, has been presented the "Teacher Of Year" award by the Catholic War Veterans of Pittsburgh.

Brother John left LaSalle High three years ago when he was transferred to Central Catholic High of Pittsburgh.

Brother John has been engaged in many and varied activities in the field of education. He has been a member of six Pittsburgh Diocesan pre-evaluation committees which prepare schools for crediting by the Middle Atlantic States.

For the past three years, Brother John has served as diocesan moderator for the Business Honor Society. He was recently elected president of the Central Catholic Unit of the Catholic Business Education Association and is one of the founders of the National Business Honor Society.

In the field of extra curricular activities, Brother John has assisted the National Catholic Forensic League by editing the program for the national tournament.

He received his AB degree from Catholic University and his Master's Degree from New York University. Brother John has also done graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh, Duquesne University and Northwestern.

During World War II, Brother John served in the Pacific Theatre of operation as an aerial gunner in the Navy.

Lucas Seeks Board Post

George Lucas, former business manager of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union here, yesterday made application for appointment to the electrical commission, which will be named by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners in the near future.

The commission was authorized at the last session of the General Assembly.

Lucas pointed out that he had been involved with the electrical installation work at Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company during the war when a shell line was established. He also stated he has been active in Republican party affairs in the county.

Mail Carriers Seminar Today

A seminar for mail carriers of the region will be held today at 7:30 p.m. at the Allegheny Labor Temple, sponsored by Queen City Branch 638, National Association of Letter Carriers, and the State Association of Letter Carriers.

Conducting the seminar will be George G. Morrow, Baltimore, field director for the Washington Region of the national association, and William Keeler, Baltimore, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Association.

Morrow also is president of Baltimore Branch 176, and Keeler is secretary of the unit.

All branches in the Tri-State area are expected to have representatives at the seminar, local officials report.

Auditor Named For LaVale Work

Fort Hill Graduates Honored

Approximately 200 seniors and their advisors were honored Thursday at the 15th annual All-Letter Dinner in the social room of St. John's Lutheran Church by the Pennsylvania Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association.

A unique format was used this year, according to Mrs. Kathryn Pafel Wilson, advisor, by having all speakers graduates of Fort Hill and Pennsylvania Avenue high schools.

In previous years, outside speakers were engaged for the dinner.

The master of ceremonies was Dr. Norman L. Barger, class of 1943 and Rev. Calvin L. Hudson, class of 1947 delivered the invocation.

The seniors were welcomed by Delbert Proudfoot, class of 1930, who is president of the alumni association.

The speaker was William A. Wilson, class of 1931, who is a judge of the Maryland Tax Court.

Musical selections by various members of the senior class were featured. Songs were presented by Carol Herman, William Rice, Miles Thompson and Jerry Womack with Harold B. Hanson as accompanist.

The Senior Class Boys' Ensemble played several numbers. Guests were Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Heisey.

Dr. Hill is Fort Hill's principal, while Reynolds is vice principal and a 1949 graduate, while Heisey was the only principal Penn Avenue and Fort Hill had until his retirement a year ago.

The alumni association promotes the dinner for the many students who serve Fort Hill but are not recognized because the fields in which they endeavor do not come before the public's eye.

The dinner was for seniors who earned their school letters anytime during their high school year.

County Names Tax Workers

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved the employment of three part-time workers for the tax office during the heavy collection period which starts June 1.

They are Royal Miller, RD 1, Frostburg; Thomas Garland, city, and Mrs. Katherine Regan, city. The two men are college students. The appointments were made on the recommendation of Francis Philpot, tax collector.

Traffic Sign Is Installed

The Traffic Bureau of the City Police Department has installed a sign at the intersection of Fayette Street and Braddock Road which permits motorists to turn onto Braddock Road against a red light.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said a sign formerly in use created a traffic hazard because some drivers drove across the intersection onto U. S. Route 220.

The new sign states turns may be made only onto Braddock Road and that they should be made with "care."

Optimists At Meeting

Seven delegates from Area 4 of Zone J, Optimist International, are attending the District 33 convention in Ocean City this weekend.

They are accompanied by Robert Natale, LaSalle High School student who won the Zone J oratorical contest.

Natale will compete today in the District 33 Oratorical contest. Sponsored by the Bedford Road Optimist Club, he is being escorted by John Cheney of the Bedford Road club.

Delegates are W. Lester Hudson, this city, lieutenant governor of Zone J and former president of Cumberland Optimist Club; Vernon K. Smith, president-elect of the local club; Samuel Dishong, secretary-treasurer-elect of the local club; Bernard DeLisle, president of the Bowling Green-Potomac Park Club; Edwin Griffin, president-elect of the Bowling Green-Potomac Park Club; Harry Eisentrout, president-elect of the LaVale Club, and Cheney, past president of the Bedford Road Club.

Radio station KDKA in East Pittsburgh, Pa. first went on the air the evening of Nov. 2, 1920, with a report on the Harding-Cox presidential election. This is generally conceded as the beginning of modern broadcasting.

County Board Sees Film On Dump Program

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners saw a movie yesterday. It was for the purpose of ascertaining the benefits of the land fill method of garbage disposal.

Wilfred Shields, a public health engineer for the State Department of Health, and Gaylord Brooks, supervising sanitarian for the County Health Department, showed the movie to give the commissioners an idea of the land fill garbage program.

The method is described as the best one for garbage disposal and the county has a critical need for such facilities. Shields told the board that Allegheny is one of two counties in Maryland which does not maintain garbage disposal facilities.

It is hoped to show the film to interested persons and clubs in the next few weeks to educate them on the benefits of the system.

The film gave graphic evidence of how rats, with their attendant diseases, odors and other unsightly effects of open dumps can be eliminated by land fill methods.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said that the county has a responsibility in garbage disposal as irresponsible dumping of garbage affects the health and welfare of the community.

Getty did point out that in the area of costs of such a program the board should not lose sight of the fact that the services provided for county areas should include the City of Cumberland and other communities in all fairness.

Shields and Brooks were asked to view some possible sites, particularly old strip mine cuts in the Georges Creek area, so that residents in those areas could be shown via film and talks how the land fill method would provide them with protection from some of the conditions which they object to in dump areas.

Commissioner Robert Little Ebert said that an overall plan should be decided upon and the program then "sold to the people" in the areas selected. Commissioner Russell Carder said that he knows that indiscriminate dumping of trash and garbage in the Frostburg area has "soured people" on any such projects near their residences.

The film did show how land fill areas had been converted into parks, playgrounds and even parking areas after the fills are compacted and covered.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon said that something will have to be done as the problem is becoming more acute each day.

Preceding the showing of the film, John C. Sullivan, attorney for Frostburg, inquired what the community should do. There has been objection to one site on Big Savage Mountain, located in Garrett County, and the community would like some idea as to what is planned.

The French language has a greater slang vocabulary than the English.

Canasta, a card game of the rummy family, surpassed contract bridge as this country's most popular card game for a brief time.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Carroll Baker said she got her first briefing on Saint Veronica from Dolores Hart.

"Jack and I came out on the plane with Dolores and she told me the story of how Saint Veronica wiped the face of Christ when he was on the cross and the image of His face was impressed on the scarf she used."

"When George Stevens asked me to play Saint Veronica in 'The Greatest Story Ever Told,' I was delighted although it is a small part because he gave me my first chance in 'Giant.'"

With "Bye Bye Birdie" flying high at the box office for Columbia, it's interesting that the director, George Sidney, and one of the stars, Ann-Margret, get still another musical, "Viva Las Vegas," this one for MGM and producer Jack Cummings.

Elvis Presley is the star of the "Vegas" picture and it is coincidental that "Birdie" is supposed to be a take-off on Presley, although no one mentions that out loud. You can bet your guitar that Elvis doesn't care whether it was or it wasn't. "Viva Las Vegas" starts July 15 in "Vegas" where practically all the shooting takes place.

When Howard Hawks brought his European discovery, Maria Perschy, to Hollywood to play opposite Rock Hudson in "Man's Favorite Sport" at Universal, he signed her on a long term contract.

Now that she has left Hollywood the contract may fly out the window because there's a certain European actor, Joachim Hansen, who has a sort of term deal on Maria's heart and wants her to give up her career to marry him. She's going to give him her answer when she meets him in Salzburg.

If it was Marlon Brando's intention to completely unnerve the Universal bookkeeping department, he succeeded hands down! They are still walking around in a daze since Marlon came in and returned a large sum of cash which represented more than half the amount allotted him for expenses on his recent trip abroad and in this country attending the openings of "The Ugly American."

No one in the history of Universal has ever heard of an actor doing this before. After the awful initial shock, provisions have been made to take the money back!

Group Opposes Building Bond

The Allegheny County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday made a number of revisions and modifications in the proposed subdivision regulations but would not budge on changing the performance bond provision.

The Home Builders Association of Western Maryland objected to this provision at the session. The regulation would call for a performance bond in the estimated amount of the improvement.

C. Lee Renaud, planning director, said the commission felt that after such a bond is placed the sale of lots on the subdivision would result in an income to the developer and would also eliminate certain factors which could arise without this provision.

One place where the regulations were modified in keeping with a request of the home builders was in the matter of grades within subdivisions. For minor streets and alleys the grade may be 14 per cent instead of the originally proposed 12 per cent. Collector streets may have 10 per cent grades instead of eight, major roads may have an eight per cent, not the originally proposed five.

Is There Any Way To Curb Junkets?

Members of the House of Representatives have tightened their rules on junketing in several ways in recent weeks as a result of some embarrassing publicity directed at some of their more reckless spenders. Under the new rules, foreign aid counterpart funds no longer will provide unlimited coffers of coin for traveling Congressmen to dip into, and a public accounting of expenses must be made upon their return.

No sooner had the House adopted its new rules than it had a chance to try them out, by rejecting a request by Harlem Representative Adam Clayton Powell for funds to take him and a delegation from the House Labor Committee, of which Powell is chairman, to an International Labor Organization meeting in Geneva next month.

Congressman Powell will be going to the ILO meeting, no thanks to his Congressional colleagues, and he will not have to make an accounting to anyone for the expenses of his party. Representative Powell has been asked by the State Department to take his delegation as a guest of the department.

State Department expense accounts have taken on an aura of autonomy in recent years. Congressional requests for detailed information about who is spending how much on expense accounts have been rebuffed by the department on the grounds such information would reveal diplomatic secrets by letting the enemy know which countries with which the United States has diplomatic relations require the most official attention.

The renewed determination of the House to control junketing now appears to boil down to: either vote the requested funds and subject the expense account to an after-the-fact public audit, or reject the request and risk a return to pleasure trips on the taxpayer hidden under a White House blanket of prohibited information.

The spotlight of embarrassment must inevitably turn on the Executive Branch if this example of subversion of Congressional intent proves to be an established precedent.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Disillusioned Fighter

Not so long ago the report came from Cuba that an American-owned plane had attempted to bomb oil installations in Havana. The bombs, so the report said, had failed to explode. But other reports, coming in from the anti-Castro underground, said that a noise had been heard, which would indicate that something had been hit.

The plane in question was a twin Beechcraft C-45, piloted by Geoffrey Sullivan, of Waterbury, Conn., and owned on a still largely unpaid note—by a handsome Irishman named Alexander Rorke Jr., who boasts that he was the first American reporter to be jailed by Castro. Though nobody had seen the plane take off from any point that would have indicated an infringement of the neutrality laws, the U.S. government grabbed the Beechcraft in Connecticut the other day. It is now held at Bradley Field, near Hartford, and its owner can't reclaim it, though he insists that it was seized without a warrant and that no charges have been preferred against him.

The loss of the plane is the second serious setback which Mr. Rorke, a dedicated anti-Communist who wants to help the Cubans get rid of Castro, has encountered in recent weeks. Before his troubles with the plane he had a power boat, the Violynn III, which was kept by the British from using Norman's Key, an island in the Bahamas, as a possible base for raids against Castro ships. The Violynn III was permitted by the British to return to Dinner Key, Fla., where it was seized by the Coast Guard. Now held by the U.S. Customs in the Miami River, the Violynn III is, according to Mr. Rorke, "rotting" because of the salt that is backing up into his exhausts and "ruining" the manifolds. Mr. Rorke insists, once again, that no charges have been preferred against him for violating any laws of the United States with the Violynn III.

The government, obviously, thinks it has good reason to sequester the Beechcraft and the Violynn III, and maybe it has. But, regardless of the technical legal rights and wrongs of the case, what makes Mr. Rorke particularly angry is the invasion of what he considers to be his moral rights as a dedicated freedom fighter.

Sitting at a luncheon table this week and letting his food grow cold, Mr. Rorke spoke of what he considers to be the double standard involved in application of the neutrality laws. Only yesterday, he said, he was busy conducting anti-Castro leaflet raids over Cienfuegos and Matanzas in Cuba. He did this, he said, for Cubans, but the tab for the raids was, as he put it, "picked up by the C.I.A.," which would indicate that the raids had been approved by a U.S. government agency.

What Mr. Rorke wants to know is why it is right to break a law at one time and wrong to break it at another. Before 1963, he said, the U.S. government was itself involved in violating the neutrality legislation in regard to Cuba. But today it is deemed illegal even when anti-Castro Cuban patriots mount their raids against Cuba from Central America or some uninhabited rock in the Caribbean.

What bothers Mr. Rorke is that the crackdown on the Cubans seems, inferentially, to condemn much of the U.S. heroic past. If anti-Castro Cubans are to be kept from fighting Castro, he says, then General Claire Chennault of Louisiana was wrong to have organized the Flying Tigers to help the Chinese fight the Japanese in the days before Pearl Harbor. And it was wrong for American fliers to have enlisted in the Eagle Squadron to fight the Nazis for the British. Beyond that, Mr. Rorke recalls the time when Raoul Lafeyette Escadrille to carry out air missions against the Germans in World War I. This was before the U.S. had formally entered the war.

It is Mr. Rorke's contention that any American citizen should have the blessing of his government for enlisting in the war against tyranny anywhere. Americans are fighting against Communists in south-eastern Asia. They are contributing to Israel in its struggle to maintain its territorial integrity against the Arab states. Why, then, discriminate against an American freedom fighter for choosing Castro as his target? Mr. Rorke wants to know.

'Just Like Missile Gap—Huh Boss?'

Life-And-Death Struggle For Communist Control

WASHINGTON

By Joseph Alsop

After long maneuvering, the Soviets and the Chinese Communists have at last jointly scheduled a meeting to discuss their differences in Moscow on July 5.

In the same issue of Pravda announcing that a date for a meeting had finally been agreed upon, great prominence was given to a French Communist statement that "dogmatism"—meaning the Chinese heresy—was now the prime danger to the world Communist movement. That reveals the Soviet leadership's approach to the July meeting.

So much has been generally noticed. Far too little attention has been given, however, to an astonishing speech starkly revealing the real nature of the current stage in the Sino-Soviet dispute. It was made in Hanoi, by Liu Shao-chi, the second man of the Chinese Communist party, at the close of his recent Southeast Asian tour.

There were two notable features of this speech. Liu boldly restored Stalin to his former niche as "the great continuator of Lenin," from which Nikita S. Khrushchev has rudely pushed the dead dictator. Liu repeatedly spoke of "Marx, Engels, Lenin, and Stalin" as a quadrumvirate of equals, who ought to be the true guides of world Communism.

More important still, however, was Liu's blunt warning to the unfortunate North Vietnamese, who have been trying to fence-sit, and thus to stay friends with both the Soviets and the Chinese Communists in the midst of their bitter quarrel.

"Modern revisionists," said Liu Shao-chi, meaning no one else but Khrushchev and his supporters, "(while) donning a cloak of Marxism-Leninism, are actually wantonly adulterating Marxism-Leninism, emasculating Marxism-Leninism in its revolutionary soul."

... substituting hypocritical bourgeois 'supra-class' viewpoints for Marxist-Leninist viewpoints ... and substituting bourgeois pragmatism for dialectical materialism.

In Communist terms, this is about as far with the sort of things the Church Fathers said about the Arians, the Monophysites, the Gnostics, and the Nestorians before these wicked heretics were hurled into outer darkness. "The destiny of the world," declared Liu, would therefore depend on the outcome of the struggle against "the modern revisionists." And he went on pointedly: "(In) such an important struggle of principle, we cannot act as onlookers or follow a middle course."

In short, the North Vietnamese were told, in plain terms, that they had better climb down off the fence without another minute of delay. Whether they will do so still remains to be seen. Meanwhile, Liu's speech rather forthrightly tells us that even before the Moscow meeting the Chinese and Soviets are waging a life and death struggle for control of other Communist parties.

In this struggle, the Chinese have already won fairly dramatic successes. All the Asian parties are off the fence and on the Chinese side, except for the North Vietnamese party, which has been leaning Chinese, and the Indian party, whose pro-Chinese leaders have been quietly locked up by Jawaharlal Nehru, on the suggestion, it is reported, of the local pro-Soviet Communists.

The Japanese party, in which the pro-Chinese group has a majority, is perhaps the biggest prize the Chinese have won. But there are others. The Communists of New Zealand, somewhat surprisingly, have preferred Peking to Moscow. In the Canadian party, there is at least enough dissent to result in a recent mission to Peking, and the same is true of the Brazilian party.

Even in Western Europe, the Soviets have run into trouble here and there. In the Norwegian party, for instance, the pro-Chinese group was nearly strong enough to take over, and a fight for control is still continuing. In the satellite area, too, the Soviets' row with the Chinese is strengthening the impulses to independence felt by the local leaderships. The Rumanian party leaders, for instance, have boldly and obstinately rejected Moscow's views about joint economic planning for the member-nations of the Soviet bloc.

In the Hanoi speech, Liu further spoke of the "struggle against revisionism" as necessarily "protracted and complicated ... involving many twists and turns." A major turning point has already passed, for the Chinese, having seriously hoped to topple Khrushchev from his leadership of the Soviet party, have almost certainly had to give up on this point.

But if the leadership of both sides remains the same, the struggle can only go on, with mounting fury; and this outlook is highly unlikely to be altered by the Moscow meeting.

While news headlines seem to list an endless stream of official visitors to Moscow, a recapitulation shows that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has received only about half as many chiefs of state as Kennedy, and that nearly half of this total is accounted for by visits of satellite country leaders to Moscow.

True, some of these visits have been chalked up as failures, but on the whole the White House and State Department are pleased with the results of these invitations, and there is every intention to continue them for the balance of Kennedy's White House stay.

All told, about two-thirds of the world's leaders have accepted Kennedy invitations to visit the United States. In turn, this means that the President will have to spend more time than he wants to in trips to other countries, where he has been invited on similar visits.

Astronaut Gordon Cooper Followed Good Advice From His Late Father

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The late Judge Leroy Gordon Cooper of Shawnee, Okla., passed on many bits of wisdom and philosophy to his son, the astronaut. One of them was: "The world will stand aside for the man who knows where he's going."

Rep. Tom Steed (D-Okla.), a friend of the family when young "Gordo" was growing up in Shawnee, thinks that the astronaut may have patterned his life on such paternal advice.

"I can recall him as a boy in Shawnee," says Steed. "He was a friend of my son Dick, and used to come to our home. He was a serious-minded, athletic lad who seemed to have a mission in life and always tried to excel in whatever he did — to do the best job he could."

"Even then he was intensely interested in aviation. As I recall, he soloed in an airplane at the age of 16, while other boys were learning to drive automobiles. His parents always helped him along. They were of good pioneer stock, the salt of the earth."

"His mother, Hattie, that beautiful lady you saw on television, used to go trout-fishing with her husband before he died a few years ago. She's still one of the best fly-casters in that part of Oklahoma."

In Washington, Congressman Steed asked Hattie Cooper if she was worried by the report that Gordo was having difficulties in the late stages of his orbit and would have to fire manually the retro-rockets that brought him back to earth.

"Tom, you know me well enough to know that I wasn't really worried," she replied. "I thought he would make it all right. I had more confidence in him than I did in that machine he was in."

However, like most other astronaut relatives, she was not happy about having to face television cameras and answer reporters' questions. When Gordo asked his mother if she wanted to attend his own post-flight press conference at Cape Canaveral, she said: "Son, you can't avoid the press conference at Cape Canaveral, but I can — and I am."

Cancer Patients' Protest

Whether you were a doctor, a Congressman, or just a hard-boiled newspaperman, you couldn't help but have your heartstrings torn by the testimony of a little group of cancer patients who pleaded with Congress and the administration to keep the door open for them to receive krebiozen after June 7.

Krebiozen is the drug which Dr. Andrew Ivy, former dean of the University of Illinois Medical School, claims will help relieve cancer but which the American Medical Association frowns on. Caught in the middle of this dispute, the Food and Drug Administration is faced with the new law banning, after June 7, drugs on which there has not been a complete clinical investigation.

Worried by this dispute, the users of krebiozen came to Washington to protest.

"I am not interested in their argument. My concern is my husband's life," said Mrs. Laine Friedman of Flushing, N. Y.

The pretty dark-eyed mother of four explained that "the surgeons opened George up, took one look at his abdominal cancer and sewed him back together again. He was given one month to live. 'I found krebiozen. He is alive and working today. Without it he would be dead.'"

"Someone is going to answer to me if they cut off this drug to the thousands of krebiozen users," Mrs. Friedman said her own physician wouldn't give her a statement that he is using krebiozen because he couldn't risk possible American Medical Association reprisals. He might lose his hospital privileges.

One Doctor Disagrees

Dr. F. Allen Rutherford, Lebanon, Pa., said this was no idle fear. The Good Samaritan Hospital dropped him from the staff, and he could no longer use the institution until a newspaper campaign created such a furor that he was reinstated.

Dr. Rutherford said that in 40 years practice he had only two cancer patients survive more than 5 years with orthodox therapy, until he learned of krebiozen's investigational use by Dr. Ivy.

Dr. Rutherford described krebiozen as "miraculous," said he has "seen it work on 35 different types of malignant growths" in every area of the human body; that it "takes up where surgery and radiation let go."

He said he "had treated 198 patients, of whom 97 per cent were terminal," and that one in 8 had responded favorably. Fifty per cent of his patients had received pain relief.

The government says krebiozen's originator, Dr. Stevan Durovic, and Dr. Ivy have not submitted sufficient information to allow the National Institutes of Health to design a clinical study. However, NIH has found it possible to use the taxpayers' money for such studies as:

The social role of the aging wild ungulate; behavioral and physiological concomitants of dreaming; studies of a disease in a giant snail; emergent leadership among the New Guinea Tolai; the oral health of Icelandic peoples; investigation of information contained in echoes; alcohol use in a changing Navaho community; blood group genetics of Southampton Island Eskimos; tooth development in sheep.

But, said Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), "they have consistently and persistently refused" to test krebiozen.

"I believe they have refused, in large part because at the beginning of this work Dr. Ivy got into a dispute with the AMA and the AMA has refused to grant it any credence and on the contrary has attacked it bitterly."

"I believe NIH... has fallen under the control largely of the pundits of AMA and is ruled by the prejudices of organized medicine."

"We know that Dr. Semmelweis was virtually driven out of medicine. We know that Lord Lister... was nearly driven out of medicine. The great German Dr. Robert Koch likewise was nearly driven out of the practice of medicine. The great Jenner was persecuted, and only rose over many objections to become a leader in the medical profession."

Note — Statistics show that one in every four persons will contract cancer and one in every six persons will die of it.

Blonde On The Beach

By John Crosby

CANNES, France.

The movie starlet has an international face. Like the international movie producer, she transcends national boundaries. Hair blonde—the color of dumbness. Eyes covered with dark glasses—the color of mystery. Mouth O-shaped—the international symbol of invitation.

There are not so many here as in the other years. Still, you see them posing in front of the Carlton in skintight pants, in those clichés of pictures that pile unwanted on a picture editor's desk. One out of 500 gets used. Even if it does, so what? A pretty girl, running her hands through her hair. You look at it fleetingly, turn the pages.

When you think of the hundreds of movie starlets in scores of countries, getting their pictures taken—for that one quickly forgotten glimpse, supporting heaven knows how many photographers, enriching the Eastman company. For what? Well, Jayne Mansfield got discovered that way. One of those one in 10 billion chances. Like dealing four perfect hands in bridge. It doesn't happen often, but the fact that it happens at all keeps people trying.

The other day, I was lying on the sands at eight in the morning. Had the beach to myself. Except for one gorgeous thing in a bikini. Hair blonde—the color of dumbness. Lips O-shaped—the shape of invitation. And very early in the morning—the color of ambition. The early starlet gets the best pictures. Presently a photographer heaved himself over the horizon, sleepily, and began photographing her. On the mattress. In the sea, looking delicious, like a hors d'oeuvre. On a speedboat, throwing kisses.

Beautiful morsel with long blonde hair, and marvelous muscles in the most interesting places. After the photographer left, I asked her her name, thinking to myself I will get some nice dumb blonde quotes. They're very readable — dumb blonde quotes. Her name was Taine Berrill and she has eyes the color of the Mediterranean and a lovely, friendly smile.

"I was made in Germany," she explained. "Polish father and Swedish mother, but the pictures I have made—'Une Blonde Comme Ca' (I was the blonde), 'Abominable', 'The Unknown of Hong Kong'—are all French." She laughed. "In Germany, you must be recognized someplace else before one pays any attention to you at home. Then you return, they say: 'Aah.' It's very strange. They are so unsure of themselves, the Germans. My next picture will be made in Germany."

Dumb? She's 21 years old, has been in movies three years, and speaks four languages—German, French, English, and Italian. Dumb, eh? I thought to myself: Crosby, you haven't even mastered English yet. She moved like a panther and I asked her if she was a dancer.

"I'm a classical ballerina. In fact, I have a job with the Paris Opera next winter." She shrugged. "No, it doesn't pay much, but you must do what you can. I'd love to go to America and work with Balanchine."

"Or Jerome Robbins. He is a true genius, Mr. Robbins," she said simply. "He's learned how to say things to people, a whole new language of movement. You can't say anything anymore with classical ballet. I saw Mr. Robbins' 'Ballet, U. S. A.' in Paris. I sat there dumbfounded, transfixed, enchanted."

Dumb? Just as a shot in the dark, I thought I'd ask her about politics. What did she think of Adenauer. An exasperated moue: "He outlived his usefulness and his ideas a long time ago. But Germans like assurance. They see things are going all right for 10 years, they think they will go all right for another 10 years. Germans get used so easily."

She stirred restlessly. "People talk war all the time. It's the —how do you say it in English? —the chantage? Nobody wants war, but if you talk about it all the time, we'll end by making it. War is the optimum interest of the people. I don't know why. Life is so nice."

I asked her what a blonde starlet does at a film festival besides get photographed. "Meet people, talk business. I talk business in four languages. A lot of these producers just want a girl. I tell them: 'If you want to talk business, all right. If you want a girl, I know some who will be happy to meet you.' It's a pity most of the starlets don't know how to behave themselves. I think starlets rise much faster behaving themselves than by going to bed with producers. In the whole history of the motion picture business, I never heard of a movie starlet getting ahead by going to bed with producers."

I asked her if she were interviewed as well as photographed at film festivals. She shook her head, laughing. "In France, the people prefer to see a bikini and what is in it than a head and what is in it."

Very nice girl. Very bright, too. If Jerome Robbins is looking for a stunningly blonde, with Mediterranean blue eyes, who moves like a panther, is trained in modern and classical ballet, speaks four languages, and harbors liberal opinions, I know one. I have never realized what a many-faceted profession being a blonde movie starlet was.

Research On Vitamin A, Garlic, And Nursing

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Which vegetables and fruits provide vitamin A at the lowest cost? Produce prices vary in different parts of the country and the season. But, in general, the best buys — according to the Journal of the American Dietetic Association—are carrots, collards, kale, spinach, sweet potatoes, and winter squash. Next on the list are broccoli, cantaloupe, tomatoes and tomato juice. Other fruits and vegetables are considered expensive sources only because they contain so little vitamin A.

This same journal describes four cases of leprosy in India that were treated with garlic. The results were encouraging, even though the number of cases is too small to proclaim a new cure. The active substance in garlic (allicin) has some antiseptic properties, which may explain why the herb proved helpful. Garlic has been touted as a preventive of colds and other infections. The question in my mind is whether a person could eat enough to obtain the amount of allicin capable of killing a germ.

We learned also from this publication that breast feeding in Nottingham, England, is on the decline. While 83 per cent of mothers are breast feeding at four days after delivery, only 60 per cent are doing so two weeks later; and only 50 per cent by the end of a month. The survey showed also that only one in 10 mothers continues to nurse for as long as six months.

The main reason for stopping was a failure of the supply or the unsuitable quality of the milk. This may not have been a valid excuse, however, because 55 per cent of those who stop within a month admit they would have switched to bottle feeding in any case. Many physicians advocate supplementary feedings when the breast supply begins to wane, hoping the mother will continue to nurse as long as possible. But most women prefer the artificial method when this stage is reached.

WATER WITH FOOD

W. S. writes: Is it harmful for children to wash down every bite of food with water?

REPLY

No, even though it is not necessary. The body has an efficient swallowing mechanism that is preceded by chewing and a copious flow of saliva. This beats washing everything down with water.

other metal near the skin. Can this eruption be prevented in any way except by not wearing any metals?

REPLY

Allergy to nickel is the most likely cause. Coat the metal with a clear plastic.

INFESTED BLADDER

A. B. writes: Please comment on bladder infection in women, the cause, and why it comes back so often.

REPLY

Women are more susceptible to this condition (cystitis) because of anatomical reasons as well as injury from childbearing. It can be remedied, provided the cause is known and the proper urinary antiseptic is used. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cystitis.

CELERY AND NERVES

R. B. writes: I'm very nervous and a friend told me to eat lots of celery. Do you think this will help?

REPLY

Yes, provided you find solace or peace of mind in eating. Celery is much better for the figure than munching on chocolates, cookies, and other high caloric foods.

LEG PARALYSIS

R. C. writes: Will a paraplegic ever be able to walk again?

REPLY

No. The majority live in wheel chairs and automobiles. Braces are available but it takes hours to put them on and take them off. In addition, walking with these supports is so slow and tedious that the majority of paraplegics prefer the wheel chair.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

From a "Try and Stop Me" reader in Iowa comes the story of a staid Quaker gentleman who was beset by a band of rowdy neighbors and acquaintances. Having been in their cups for a time they were determined to have the Quaker also indulge and urged him by every means at their command to place the jug to his lips and imbibe the fiery brew. He was just as determined to keep his record unsullied. Finally the rowdies lost patience, set him down on his back, forced a funnel into his mouth, and poured the liquor down his gullet. As he finally gained his footing he was asked, "Now will you take a drink like a gentleman when you're asked?" Loud and clear rang the Quaker's fearless cry, "Never," he shouted, "but thee may funnel me again."

There never lived a simpler, or more unassuming lady than the late Eleanor Roosevelt. Irene Wicker tells of a day Mrs. Roosevelt was giving her a few tips about places to visit in Paris. "There's a little restaurant on the Left Bank that I cannot recommend too highly," enthused Mrs. FDR. "Not only is the food wonderful, but the proprietor is very kind and thoughtful. I went there one day after having been away for over two years, and would you believe it, he remembered instantly who I was!"

The wife of a distinguished author claimed that she could no longer stand his clomping around the house day after day. "I married him," she explained, "for better or for worse—NOT for lunch."

Son, Daughter Awards Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The annual "Son and Daughter of the Year" award will be presented Saturday to Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., and Mrs. Charles Healy of Princeton, N. J., and Charles Town, at an annual luncheon in the Caucus Room of the U. S. Senate.

The awards by the West Virginia Society of the District of Columbia will be presented by Gov. W. W. Barron, last year's winner, and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., recipient in 1960. Byrd's long service as a legis-lator began in 1946 when he was elected to the West Virginia House of Delegates from Raleigh County. He was re-elected in 1948 and then elected to the State Sen-ate from the Raleigh - Wyoming district in 1950.

In 1952, Byrd was elected to the first of three consecutive terms in the U. S. House of Representa-tives from the old 6th Con-gressional District. In 1958, Byrd was elected to the Senate for a six-year term.

Mrs. Healy, the former Julia Davis, is a native of Clarksburg. Her father, John W. Davis, was Democratic nominee for President in 1924, after serving as Solicitor General of the U. S. and as U.S. ambassador to Great Britain.

Mrs. Healy, who writes under the pen name of Julia Davis, is the author of five novels, seven children's books and a history book.

Mrs. Healy also is well-known for her play depicting the trial of John Brown. The play, enacted at the Jefferson County Courthouse in Charles Town, W. Va., in 1961 and 1962, has been scheduled for another run by the Kanawha Play-ers in Charleston as part of this year's Centennial celebration.

One proposed for Beckley would attempt to gasify and liquefy coal through an electro-chemical process. Another at Cresap near Moundsville would attempt to ex-tract synthetic gasoline and other fuels from coal.

The governor earlier addressed a reunion of Pioneer Miners here.

W. Va. Centennial Pageant Planned In Martinsburg

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—A cast of more than 1,000 resi-dents will appear in the pageant "Panhandle Panorama" during the week-long Centennial activities beginning here June 22.

Officials said 35 floats and bands from West Virginia and nearby states are to parade June 29. The pageant will be held at Coburn Field, adjacent to Martins-burg High School.

Berkeley and Jefferson counties were the last two to be officially included in the new state of West Virginia. Berkeley was part of Frederick County, Va., prior to 1772. The U. S. Supreme Court put the two counties in the Mountain State in 1872, nearly nine years after West Virginia's statehood.

Judge Louis D. Brandeis, ap-pointed to the U.S. Supreme Court in 1916 by President Wil-son, was the first Jew to sit on the Supreme Court.

Electric Toothbrush Evaluation Planned

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—E. R. Squibb and Sons of Cleve-land, Ohio, has made a grant to the West Virginia University School of Dentistry for an evalua-tion of electric toothbrushes and their effect on teeth and gums.

The university said the $4,198 grant would be used for purchase of microscopic equipment for the histological examination of tissues around the teeth prior to, and during use, of electric toothbrushes.

WVU said the new devices have been evaluated in experi-ments conducted at several dental facilities but that the WVU study is believed to be the first to in-clude histological examination of tissue.

Long Water Ski Run Planned

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—What was billed as possibly the longest water skiing run on record will begin here next Friday and end in Charleston June 2.

Four water skiers pulled by two motorboats will scout down the Ohio River to Pt. Pleasant and then down the Kanawha River to the capital where they will be greeted by Gov. W. W. Barron.

Bruce Captures Class B Junior High Track Title

Mt. Savage Cops Second Place In Five-School Meet

Bruce won the Allegany County Class B junior high school track championship yesterday afternoon, easily outdistancing four other schools in the meet staged at Beall Hill Stadium.

The Junior Bulldogs piled up 95 points to finish well ahead of their closest competitor, Mt. Savage, with 68. Cresapton Junior High was third with 40 points, Beall fourth with 35 and Valley finished fifth with 32 tallies.

Two county junior high records were broken and a third one tied, including a pair of marks that had stood since 1952.

Bruce's 440-yard relay team of Pamepinto, Shumaker, McIntyre and Mullen broke the 115-pound

Indians Blast Bulldogs, 18-11, To Retain Lead

Black Knights Top LaSalle; Sentinels Beat Beall In 10th

ACL STANDINGS

W.	L.	Pct.

Mt. Savage maintained its slim lead in the Allegany County Baseball League yesterday, downing Bruce in a ragged 18-11 affair at Westernport, while Valley's on-rushing Black Knights beat LaSalle, 5-1, at Lonaconing for their fifth straight victory.

Fort Hill's Sentinels stayed right in contention by decisioning Beall, 2-1, in a neat ten-inning duel on their home diamond.

The Indians of Mt. Savage scored their seventh win in nine starts and hold a half-game lead over Valley.

Southpaw Don Engle weathered a 15-hit attack by Bruce to hang up his third win in five decisions. The Bulldogs collected seven of their hits in the last inning, during which they scored seven runs and cut down the final margin to seven tallies after trailing, 18-4.

Get 13 Free Passes

The Indians were outthit, 15-13, but received 13 free passes from three different Bruce pitchers. In addition, Bruce was charged with five errors and three passed balls.

Mt. Savage racked up ten runs in the first two innings, with Jim Carter's three-run double highlighting the second frame.

Wayne Howell led the Indians at the plate with three hits and four runs in four official at-bats. Bernie Loar and Ray Blank collected two hits apiece, and Bobby Robertson blasted a triple for the winners.

Gerald Miller had a triple and single, and Ronnie Shaffer a double and single for the Bulldogs, who went down to their ninth straight league defeat. Tom Malcolm was Bruce's starting and losing pitcher.

Lefty Marvin Miller's one-hit pitching and Bill Bevans' timely slugging highlighted Valley's victory which snapped the Explorers' two-game winning streak.

Seibert Gets Lone Hit

Miller, who yielded a fifth-inning single to Bobby Seibert, struck out three and issued four bases on balls. He is 2-0 for the season, having also beaten Fort Hill, 3-2.

Bevans batted in four of the Black Knights' five runs with a triple and single.

Valley scored three runs in the second when Bevans tripled with Danny Sloan and Dennis Shockey aboard, and Phil Shockey followed with a three-bagger.

The Knights added two more runs in the fourth on a two-run single by Bevans.

LaSalle scored an unearned run in the seventh on two walks and an error.

Leroy Hanekamp's one-out triple in the bottom of the tenth scored Tom Hamilton with the winning run for Fort Hill and gave Billy Rawnley, who worked the distance, his third win without a defeat.

Dieth Takes Loss

Starter Francis Allen threw one pitch, a ball, to Hamilton in the tenth, then left in favor of Bill Dieth. The latter proceeded to walk Hamilton and, following Howard Reynolds' ground out, gave up the ground rule three-base hit to Hanekamp. Dieth was charged with the defeat.

Fort Hill scored its first run in the fifth when Lonnie Lewis tripled and was waved home on a balk by Allen. Beall evened the score in the seventh on a triple by Bob Ashby and single by Milburn Ziler.

Each team had five hits, including five extra-base blows. Vince DelaGrange rapped a single and double for the Sentinels, and Ronnie Ware had a triple and single for the Mountaineers.

Allen fanned ten Fort Hill batsmen but gave up six walks, while Rawnley walked only one and struck out eight.

Titans Are Fined

NEW YORK (AP) — A fine of $2,500 was slapped upon the now defunct New York Titans of the American Football League Friday for failure to file various tax returns with the city.

The fines were levied by Municipal Court Judge Manuel A. Gomez after Harry Wismer, who was president of the Titans at the time the complaints were filed, pleaded guilty.

Active Dealings Leave Stocks With Minor Losses

"If you feel I'm not giving you enough household money why don't you just say so!"

"WHAT MAKES YOU THINK I WANT TO GET RID OF MY STOMACH?"

...American style

The money you're putting into U. S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds | 1. You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bonds mature. 2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen, or destroyed. 3. You can get money anytime. 4. You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bidder's bond for the sum of five per cent (5%) of the amount of the proposal payable to The Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc. and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check, or bidder's bond, of the bidder to whom the contract is awarded will be forfeited to the Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc. as liquidated damages in the event the contract and performance bond are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution. All proposals must be submitted in duplicate on the prepared forms of one of which must remain bound in the specifications. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address and must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Contract No. 2 Sewage Treatment Plant, Interceptor and Sewage Ejector Station." The Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc., Bowling Green Sanitary District, Inc. The schedule of prices shall be filled in by the bidder and the bidder, with the unit and/or lump sum prices, written in numerals and the extensions made by him. The bidder shall submit bids for all items listed in the proposal and the omission of a bid for any item will cause the proposal of the bidder to be rejected. Proposals made on any other than the forms provided will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the proposal, additions or limitations, provisions will render the proposal informal and may cause its rejection. Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days after the date of opening of bids. The successful bidder will be required to be bonded to The Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc., to the sum of One Hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of this proposal according to the form of bond furnished. The Company shall be bonded to do business in Maryland. The bond will be subject to the approval of the Owner. All right is hereby reserved by The Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc. to reject any or all proposals and to waive informalities as the interest of the Sanitary Commission may require.

Fire Damages Apartment On Columbia St.

Two Companies Answer Call

Furniture in a living room of an upstairs apartment at 427 Columbia Street was damaged by fire yesterday afternoon.

The initial call was received at 3:16 p. m. by firemen of East Side station who asked firemen of Central station for an assist in fighting the blaze.

A couch and chair and wall of the living room were damaged by the flames which were quenched before they spread into the attic.

The apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Minick.

Earlier in the day, firemen from East Side station went to 215 Bedford Street where the ceiling of the back porch had ignited.

Firemen said a blowtorch being used to burn off paint off the house caught the ceiling on fire. The blaze was brought under control when a garden hose was used. Firemen were called at 11:24 a. m. and the fire was practically out when they arrived.

At 8:45 a. m. firemen from Central Station were called to the Market Street bridge to extinguish a fire in an auto driven by Mrs. E. A. Dashiell, Buckingham Road.

Firemen said the fire apparently started in the wiring. Considerable damage was done to wiring and the car's interior, they said.

Annual Bike Inspection Begins June 17

The Cumberland Police Department's annual program of inspection and issuance of bicycle tags at the city's playgrounds will get under way June 17 and continue through June 28, according to Police Commissioner William Keegan.

The program is conducted with the cooperation of the City Recreation Department and the Cumberland Optimist Club to allow children to obtain bicycle tags at their neighborhood playground eliminating the necessity of pedaling through downtown traffic to Police Headquarters.

Cpl. Oliver Cook of the police department will be assisted in the inspection of bicycles by members of the Optimist Club. Youngsters are reminded that a safe bike requires good brakes, a bell or horn as a warning device and head and tail lights for night riding.

Inspection and issuance of tags will begin at 6:30 p. m. each day during the program.

The playground schedule for the first week is as follows: North End, June 17; Penn Avenue, June 24; Post, June 25; West Side, June 26; Centre Street, June 27; Gephart, June 28, and Fort Cumberland Homes, June 29.

The second week inspection will be conducted at Columbia Street, June 24; Post, June 25; West Side, June 26; Centre Street, June 27; and Johnson Heights, June 28.

Some 2,010 tags were sold last year, according to Mrs. Margaret Sisk, clerk at police headquarters, who issues the tags. The tags cost 25 cents.

Potomac State To Hold Exam For Graduates

June 1 is the deadline for high school seniors of this area to register for the American College Testing program which will be given at Potomac State College in Keyser on June 22.

Prof. Jack Hartman, who teaches psychology at the college, said yesterday that the test is being held not only for seniors of Mineral County but also those who live in the surrounding area.

Those who are interested in taking the exam are being urged to contact their school principal or guidance counselor as soon as possible and be registered by the June 1 deadline.

The exam will be given to high school graduates planning to enter college this fall will be conducted at 16 educational centers in West Virginia including Potomac State on June 22 and at Salem College on June 24.

Test results are required by 16 state schools in West Virginia and recommended by two others.

The scores are used in admissions and are required for students planning to request financial aid and scholarships.

Safety Engineers Install Officers

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, outgoing secretary-treasurer; Bruce Lee of Columbia Gas Company, Mr. Matthews' successor; and B. R. Lewis, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, outgoing president.

Former St. Luke's Pastor Pictured In 'Time' Article

Rev. William R. Snyder, who for nearly six years was pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church here, is pictured and quoted in the current (May 24) issue of Time magazine.

An article in Time's religion section deals with the rise of small discussion groups of Christian laymen who explore theology and the Bible outside regular church services.

Pastor Snyder, whom the magazine calls an ardent believer in such "cells," is quoted as saying, "This is the way of the future for the church. We're only using Christ's strategy. He spoke to his 5,000, but he also spoke to his two or three."

The Time article says, "Perhaps no U. S. church has embraced the cell concept more warmly than St. John's... which sponsors 21 'koinonia' (Greek word for fellowship) groups."

Pastor Snyder told Time, "It seemed to me that the church had to find a more effective means of communicating the Gospel than merely proclaiming it from the pulpit on Sunday morning."

The "cells" in St. John's congregation meet each week for breakfast or dinner, followed by prayer, a Scriptural reading, and group discussion. Most cell members are leaders in the parish, but Pastor Snyder said, "We have some people in our koinonias whom we never see in church on Sunday."

Pastor Snyder, 35, is a 1950 graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) college, did one year of graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated from Gettysburg Theological Seminary in 1954. He served a Virginia church before coming to St. Luke's as pastor January 1, 1955.

During his pastorate, the size, attendance and giving at St. Luke's increased, and the congregation built a large new church in the 1600 block of Frederick Street.

While he was here, Pastor Snyder served as president, secretary, and board member of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, was on the boards of the Salvation Army, Central YMCA, the Allegany Youth Commission and the Kiwanis Club, and was active in work of the Maryland Synod of the church.

His present church, which had 2,700 members when it called him to be its pastor, is recognized as the mother church of the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Pastor and Mrs. Snyder spent a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. W. Edward Eichner last Christmas time.

Damage Suit Filed In Circuit Court

A damage suit involving injuries to a local man who was a passenger in an auto which wrecked earlier this year on Cumberland Street was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Millard R. Bolyard, 18 1/2 North Lee Street, through his attorney, John M. Robb, filed the suit against James H. Fraley, of 400 Walnut Street. Fraley was driver of a car which went out of control on February 18, 1963 on Cumberland Street, and hit a utility pole.

Car Wash Planned

The Young Married Couples Class of the Ridgeley Evangelical United Brethren Church will sponsor a car wash today.

The washing project is scheduled from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m. behind the church on Knobley Hill.

Checks And Cards Stolen From Telephone Booth

City police yesterday received a complaint that someone took a number of checks and gas station credit cards from a local service station operator.

Ira W. Malone of 205 Elder Street who operates a service station on Virginia Avenue, told police he had the checks and cards in a package when he went into a phone booth on the avenue to place a call.

He left the package in the booth and stepped outside to talk to a friend. Meanwhile a woman entered the booth and left shortly afterwards. Malone missed his package, reentered the booth and found it was gone.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van, who is investigating, also reported he received a complaint from a local couple that someone took bowling equipment from their car which was parked in front of their house.

Mrs. R. A. Shields, of 515 Hill Top Drive said bowling equipment valued at $36 and belonging to her and Mr. Shields had been removed from the car.

The equipment included two bowling balls on which are the initials R.A.S., two pair of shoes and a ball carrying case.

Cooperators Join District

Three new district cooperators were approved by Allegany County district supervisors of Soil Conservation Service at a meeting Thursday at the Elks Club.

The names were submitted by Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist. They are William T. Santmyer, Oldtown, 110 acres, who is interested in drainage and stream channel work; Ronald F. Downey, Vocke Road, six acres, erosion problem and Donald Blair, Midland, eight acres, drainage problem.

The SCS also revised basic plans for John Bryon, 90 acres and Wilbert Paul, 177 acres, during the past month. Basic plans are being developed for Allegany Beagle Club, 188 acres; Harry Atkinson, eight acres and Wallace Walker, 78 acres.

Educational activities during the month included talks and film shown at Mt. Royal School, East Side School and Flintstone School Future Farmers of America banquet. A report was given on Soil Stewardship week services.

The drainage ditches were installed on farms of Paul Brown, Murley's Branch, Gary Teter, Flintstone and Fred Morrison, Oldtown, and a farm pond is being built on James Barnhart's farm.

Mr. Gordon also reported that Kenneth Stone, local soil scientist is soil mapping in the Georges Creek area.

Date Is Clarified

The Men of LaSalle will honor the 1963 graduates of LaSalle High School at a father-son communion breakfast Sunday, June 2, and tomorrow as was reported in yesterday's edition of The Cumberland News.

Advisory Unit To Meet

The Mayor's Citizen Advisory Committee will meet Tuesday at 7 p. m. at the city hall auditorium. John R. Joyner of Blair and Stein Associates, city planner, will be guest speaker.

Catch Basin Cleanup Will Be Completed

1,135 Yield 250 Truckloads

The Street Department hopes to complete its spring catch basin cleaning program next week, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

The job of removing cinders, sand, gravel and other debris from the 1,135 catch basins throughout the city began about six weeks ago.

At least 250 truckloads of debris have been removed from the catch basins this spring.

The job will be repeated this fall throughout the city — and after heavy rains in catch basins located in hilly sections of the city.

Catch basins are cleaned on a regular schedule set up by Mrs. Roeder. The work is done by a crew of four men, with the help of two trucks and a catch basin machine.

Ray Valentine, street superintendent, recalled that the catch basin crew included 10 men until about 10 years ago, when Mrs. Roeder purchased the clamshell device which is used to clean the basins.

He said the job, done by hand, took all summer, and was scheduled only once a year.

The twice-yearly cleaning is important to the city, in that it makes it possible to remove debris from storm sewers before it can be washed into interceptor sewers.

The three-man sewer crew is presently engaged in removing debris from the city's main interceptor sewer in the vicinity of Winow Street.

Some 75 tons of rock, gravel and sand has been removed from the big sewer line this year, and officials estimate the job is only about half done.

The gravel is removed by buckets pulled from manhole to manhole by a machine purchased by the department some time ago.

Duckworth Family Is Identified

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duckworth, McCoole Road, were placed on probation this week after they were found guilty of neglecting their 11-year-old daughter.

It was reported the Duckworths were being confused with Mr. and Mrs. John (Jack) Duckworth, who also reside on the McCoole Road and who have an 11-year-old daughter.

Library Gets Pamphlet On Lincoln Cabinet Member

Abraham Lincoln's colorful and controversial Postmaster General, Montgomery Blair, is the subject of a new Post Office Department publication, presented to Allegany County Public Library recently by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

The 44 page pamphlet is being issued by the department as part of its centennial celebration of the Paris Conference of 1863. The conference, held at the suggestion of Montgomery Blair, was the first international conference on postal problems and led to the founding of the Universal Postal Union, which regulates the handling of international mail.

Although he ran the Post Office Department during the chaotic Civil War period, Blair was responsible for some of the most important mail handling innovations in the country's history. He

Late Frost Hits Area Orchards

Slight Warmup Forecast Today

The latest frost on record in this area yesterday caused some damage to apple and peach orchards, but owners said they didn't think it was too severe.

Henry W. Miller, president of Consolidated Orchards Co. of Paw Paw, W. Va., one of the nation's 10 largest apple shippers, said the damage to the crop would be reduced but it would take several days to evaluate the damage.

Most of the damage was caused in the low-lying West Virginia orchards, Mr. Miller said. Consolidated's Maryland orchards are on higher ground, where temperatures did not drop below freezing.

Mr. Miller said May 10 usually is considered a safe date, and the latest frost previously recorded was May 17, 1956.

The Weather Bureau calls for mostly sunny and somewhat warmer today but there may be some frost during the night in some parts of the area.

The lowest reading in the area yesterday was in Garrett County where 25 degrees was recorded at Oakland. Frostburg had 28, LaVale, 30, and Cumberland, 37 degrees in the downtown section.

Five County Seniors Get Scholarships

Nine Others Are Pending

Five seniors at high schools in Allegany County plan to further their education with general tuition scholarships or teacher education scholarships awarded in the Maryland State Scholarship program.

Nine of the 14 scholarships allotted to the county are pending, according to William Anthony, executive director of the Maryland State Scholarship Board, who said the scholarships were awarded on the basis of scores attained in a state-wide competitive examination given earlier this year.

John Belt, 36 Grand Avenue, Fort Hill senior, plans to study aeronautical engineering at the University of Maryland; David DuRocher, Eastman Road, Fort Hill senior, plans to study engineering at Frostburg State Teachers College.

C. Douglas Housaman, 728 Valley View Drive, LaVale, senior at Allegany High, plans to study pre-med at the University of Maryland.

George Ord, 417 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, senior at St. Peter's High School, indicates he will study pre-law at Frostburg State Teachers College.

In the teacher education category Judith Price, senior at Allegany plans to major in either mathematics or psychology at Western Maryland College.

Patrick Flynn, of 619 Patterson Avenue, a senior at LaSalle, had planned to continue his studies although he has to report for service in the Marine Corps on June 20 for six months active duty.

Marguerite M. John, senior at Catholic Girls Central, who lives at 639 Bedford Street, declined a general state tuition scholarship to the College of St. Rose in Albany, N. Y.

Each scholarship awarded in the state has a potential value of $2,000 for four years of undergraduate work with a maximum allotment of $500 a year for tuition only, renewable annually for three years subject to recommendations of the college.

In the event scholarships are declined by qualified students, the scholarships will go to students with the next highest scores.

Warfield Wilson, who now resides in Silver Spring, completed his graduate work at George Washington University in August 1962 and graduated in February 1963.

He is presently teaching geography in the seventh grade at Sligo Junior High School. Mr. Wilson is married to the former Judith A. Shawley of London, and they have two children.

Stanley E. Wilson completed his graduate work this spring at Western Maryland College and will receive his degree June 3. For the past three years he has taught mathematics and science at Parkville Junior High School, and next fall he will be vice principal at Galena High School in Kent County.

He is married to the former Patricia Taschenberg, Spring Gap, who also has accepted a teaching position next fall in Kent County.

They are presently residing at Glenarm, but plan to move to Betterton.

The four intermediate grades of Park-side School will present an original play, "Pandora," Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. for their parents and schoolmates.

Student of grades four, five and six wrote their version of the Greek myth, Pandora, after studying early Greek history and reading the myths and legends of that period. They began research on the life of the Greeks and section of each play from the four classes was selected for presentation. The children also wrote original poems and songs for the program and planned original dances. They also will make the scenery in the art classes.

Epimetheus will be played by Martin Green, Pandora by Christa McIntyre, Hope by Laurie Scott and the old man, John Richardson.

Highlights of the program include the dances, Impo, Sailors, exercises, flower dancers, Sicilians, bird dancers and a ballet number.

Mrs. Ruth Ludman assisted the children with the music for the program. Other teachers assisting are Mrs. Eleanor Tennant, principal, Harold Winstanley, Miss Frances Christ, Willard Clevenger and Mrs. Eleanor Wineland.

Gephart PTA Making Plans For Fun Night

Gephart School PTA has announced plans are being made for its annual "Family Fun Night" to be held Friday, June 7 on the school playground.

Mrs. Gilbert Bowen, chairman of the event, said it will be held from 6 p. m. to 10 p. m. Dusty Shaver, local entertainer, will present a program from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

James "Doc" Webster, local radio announcer, will serve as master of ceremonies and a group from Steckman's Dance Studio will perform from 8 to 8:30 p. m.

There also will be dancing, a white elephant sale, games and prizes.

The PTA held its final meeting of the year this week and installed Emory Turner as the new president. Other officers for the coming year are Rev. Allan Beck, vice president; Mrs. Blaine Rinker, secretary, and Mrs. Ronald Livengood, treasurer.

Mrs. Edward Dove was presented a corsage and a past president's pin by the PTA and teachers, cafeteria workers and custodians were presented gifts.

A covered dish supper was served by the Homeroom Mothers and the Dining Room Committee under the direction of Mrs. Wilda Rinker, assisted by Mrs. Carl Wilson and Mrs. Ronald Livengood. Following the supper, the Girls' Glee Club of Allegany High School, directed by Miss Carol Reith, presented a musical program.

Salvation Army Week To Close

The Salvation Army Citadel on North Mechanic Street will pull down the curtain on National Salvation Army Week with special services Sunday at which Lt. Faye Hensley will be making her last appearances here.

Lt. Hensley, who will preach the sermon at both the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p. m. services, will leave Monday for a new assignment with the Temple Corps in Baltimore. A native of Asheville, N. C., Lt. Hensley came here last September after 27 months at the Hampton Corps in Baltimore.

The two groups with which Lt. Hensley has worked particularly during her brief stay in Cumberland will participate in the 11 o'clock service Sunday. They are the Girl Guards, ages 11 and 18, and the Sunbeams, six to 10 years of age.

During this special week, the Salvation Army is giving special stress to its theme, "With Heart To God and Hand To Man," whereby it attempts to ease the burdens of the poor, the lonely, the troubled, the aged and the hungry.

Major Ben Jones, commanding officer at the Citadel, is in Atlanta, Ga., for the graduation exercises at the Salvation Army Training School.

On Furlough

He will report to Aviation Metalsmith School, Memphis, Tenn. A former member of the local Naval Reserve, he is a 1961 graduate of Clark Air Force Base High School, Luzon, Philippines.

Farm officials report this spring has been the driest in 48 years in Maryland. Harvest of hay is 77,000 tons below average and is selling at about $60 a ton, about $25 above normal.

18 Counties Seek Aid As Drought Areas

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The Department of Agriculture will be asked to declare 18 of Maryland's 23 counties disaster drought areas so farmers may obtain livestock feed from reserve fields.

The state's farm disaster committee started the process for emergency use of pasture land by requesting the governor's office to make such a recommendation to the Secretary of Agriculture. Forwarding by the governor is routine.

County disaster committees in Garrett, Kent and Wicomico reported there was no need for the aid there. The state committee decided also it was not justified at this time in Dorchester and Somerset.

The farm lands which the Secretary of Agriculture will be asked to release for grazing and harvesting of hay were taken out of use in 1958 under the soil bank program. Farmers are paid by the federal government for not producing on the land.

Dudley Aist, head of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization Committee, said Friday there are about 5,000 such areas in Maryland.

Owners of them could either use them for their own herds or charge neighbors if the Secretary approves. The federal payments would be reduced by the same amount.

Farm officials report this spring has been the driest in 48 years in Maryland. Harvest of hay is 77,000 tons below average and is selling at about $60 a ton, about $25 above normal.

Brinkley Says No To Hike

Challenged to a 50-mile hike by ABC newsmen Ron Cochran, NBC newsmen David Brinkley replied: "My answer is no, thanks."

"I would point out to you that Teddy Roosevelt, who originated this 50-mile hike nonsense, died at the tender age of 60. Only six Presidents died younger and three of them were assassinated. I urge you to bear that in mind and desist before it is too late."

Walter Greaza of "The Edge of Night" appeared in experimental television during the late '30s,

Television's Doctors Flunk Their Medical Examinations

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—If you're thinking of studying medicine, don't take your basic training from television docs. Medical experts say they are fuzzy physicians.

A special committee of the American Society of Medical Technologists has been studying Drs. Kildare and Casey carefully. The aim was to see if television was accurately portraying the work of medical technologists, the men and women who assist doctors in many ways.

And Elizabeth O'Connor, a Chicago medical technologist, reports that the verdict is that Dr. Kildare and Ben Casey have much to learn. In fact, she says, some of the techniques they use could have killed rather than cured.

Not Sterile Enough

Specifically, she cites these infractions of basic laboratory techniques:

1. Television doctors and their staffs often overlook the proper sterility technique. They neglect to swab a patient's arm before drawing blood or forget to flame a flask in which a test culture will be grown.

"In one Ben Casey episode," Miss O'Connor says, "a patient was diagnosed and treated for tetanus. But the way they made the test was such that the tetanus germs could have been floating around in the air as well as in the patient's blood stream. Pretty painful—when he might have had only a strep throat."

2. Basal metabolism tests have been administered on television in ways which would not be tolerated in a genuine hospital. The conditions for these tests must be carefully controlled, yet television has shown a basal metabolism test given a patient shortly after eating or exercising.

Never Get Results

"Something like this occurred on a Dr. Kildare program," Miss O'Connor says. "Even a normal patient would have been diagnosed as a hyperthyroid, after the delay shown in the program and treatment for that condition would have gummed up his metabolism pretty thoroughly."

3. Television doctors, perhaps because they only have 60 minutes to effect their cures, never wait long enough for the results of lab tests.

"Blood typing for an emergency transfusion," the medical technologist says, "was accomplished within minutes on a recent Ben Casey program. Without allowing more time for precise cross-matching of blood type and its various elements, the transfused blood will clump." (Clumping can be fatal).

Wrong Antibiotics

Along the same lines, Miss

VINCENT EDWARDS

O'Connor says Jim and Ben don't allow enough time for bacteria cultures to grow before they prescribe an anti-biotic. The result, she says, is that they would frequently be prescribing the wrong anti-biotic.

4. The two television doctors frequently use poor technique in transferring blood from a syringe to a test tube. They have been caught squirting the blood, a method which can cause a condition known as hemolysis. And hemolysis interferes with precise testing.

So you'd better be suspicious of Kildare and Casey and television's other men in white (and black). Take everything they do with a grain of NaCl.

It Figures

Said the little starlet to Ernest Borgnine on the McHale's Navy set: "I have my mother's eyes, my mother's nose, and my mother's mouth."

Said Borgnine to the little starlet: "Gosh, that must leave your mother with a pretty vacant expression!"

Don Galloway of "The Secret Storm" worked at a variety of jobs, including book greasing (rubbing neatfoot oil into the covers of rare books).

Ousted Newsmen Leaves In Hurry

When ABC's Caribbean Correspondent Paul Good was ordered out of crisis-ridden Haiti a few weeks ago, "he was not even permitted to check out of his hotel with his personal belongings or his camera equipment," says James C. Hagerty, ABC Vice President in Charge of News who has asked that the State Department officially protest the "unwarranted expulsion" to the Haitian Government.

Previously he had been relieved of his passport and detained by Haitian authorities. But he was later released when he attempted to enter the Dominican Embassy in Port-au-Prince. The expulsion came a day later.

INSTANT STARDOM — Ann-Margaret, a guest last Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, rocketed to a topline role in Columbia's "Bye Bye Birdie" after a sensational one-song stint on the 1962 Academy Award telecast. Currently she's plugging movie with TV guest spots.

DOESN'T LOOK PART — In muffled, Earl Holliman (above) looks more like a candidate for drawing room comedy than modern-day Western TV-er "Wide Country" in which he stars. Though Western role is personal favorite, he'll hit the straw hat circuit with five dissimilar state parts while "Wide Country" reruns on NBC.

To Re-Introduce Song
When William Frawley, in the character of Bub on the May 30
episode of "My Three Sons" soft-shoes in and renders a song
he says he introduced—"Melancholy Baby"—he won't be kidding.
It was exactly fifty years ago
that Frawley, then doing an act
at the old Mozart Cafe in Denver, sang the number in public for the first time. It hadn't even been published, in fact he sang
it from scribbles on yellow paper.
"Damon Runyon and Gene Fowler had been heckling me to come up with a new number," he recalls. Then when he heard the grapevine word that Ernie Burnett and George Norton "had been working on something pretty good," he asked for first crack at it to impress his buddies.
Ray Collins, featured on "Perry Mason," has played more than 900 stage roles and appeared in more than 70 motion pictures.

If they ever brought back "Banjo On My Knee" (A 1937 20th-Century Fox movie) "You'll see me doing a young Jed Clamptett," says Buddy "Beverly Hillsbillies" Ebsen.
Also in the picture was Walter
"Real McCoys" Brennan. Both concede they probably got the ideas for their present day "wardrobes" from that 25-year-ago vehicle.
